The Semantics of Word Division in Northwest Semitic Writing Systems Robert S.D.

Crellin, 2022-02-03 Much focus in research on alphabetic writing systems has been on correspondences between graphemes and phonemes The present study sets out to complement these by examining the linguistic denotation of markers of word division in several ancient Northwest Semitic NWS writing systems namely Ugaritic Phoenician Moabite and Hebrew as well as alphabetic Greek While in Modern European languages words on the page are separated on the basis of morphosyntax I argue that in most NWS writing systems words are divided on the basis of prosody words are units which must be pronounced together with a single primary accent or stress or as a single phrase After an introduction providing the necessary theoretical groundwork Part I considers word division in Phoenician inscriptions I show that word division at the levels of both the prosodic word and of the prosodic phrase may be found in Phoenician and that the distributions match those of prosodic words and prosodic phrases in Tiberian Hebrew The latter is a source where unlike the rest of the material considered the prosody is well represented In Part II word division in Ugaritic alphabetic cuneiform is analyzed Here two word division strategies are identified corresponding broadly to two genres of text viz literary and administrative documents Word division in the orthography of literary and of some other texts separates prosodic words By contrast in many administrative and some other documents words are separated on the basis of morphosyntax anticipating later word division strategies in Europe by several centuries Part III considers word division in the consonantal text of the Masoretic tradition of Biblical Hebrew Here word division is found to mark out minimal prosodic words I show that this word division orthography is also found in early Moabite and Hebrew inscriptions Word division in alphabetic Greek inscriptions is the topic of Part IV Whilst it is agreed that word division marks out prosodic words the precise relationship of these units to the pitch accent and the rhythm of the language is not so clear and consequently this issue is addressed in detail Finally the Epilogue considers the societal context of word division in each of the writing systems examined to attempt to discern the rationales for the prosodic word division strategies adopted Contexts of and Relations between Early Writing Systems CREWS is a project funded by the European Research Council under the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation program grant agreement No 677758 and based in the Faculty of Classics University of Cambridge

The Architecture of Determiners Thomas Leu, 2015 Work in morphology is typically concerned with productive word formation and regular inflection in any event with open class categories such as verbs nouns and adjectives and their various forms The Architecture of Determiners by contrast is devoted to a set of function words the closed class of determiners While it is traditionally assumed that function words are syntactically atomic Thomas Leu shows that a comparative perspective on a series of determiners each insistently vivisected into its minimal morphotactic segments reveals an anatomy with properties analogous to clausal syntax including a lexical an inflectional and left peripheral layer as well as transformational relations among constituents Leu argues that determiners are extended adjectival projections with a closed class minimal stem Leu focuses on Swiss German and German using other Germanic and non Germanic languages as a comparative domain His discussion of the internal structure of determiners includes demonstratives ch 2 distributive quantifiers ch 4 possessive and negative determiners ch 5 and interrogative determiners such as was f r ch 6 His main claim that all of these involve extended adjectival projections connects naturally to a discussion of adjectival determiner inflection in German Chapter 3 addresses the oft debated strong versus weak agreement alternation in a novel way proposing that the adjective moves within its own extended projection in a way akin to verb movement to C in the clause This accounts for the central facts of nominative and accusative inflection Chapter 7 then addresses dative and genitive morphology setting them syntactically apart from adjectival determiner inflection

The Morphology and Phonology of Exponence Jochen Trommer, 2012-09-27 Exponence refers to the mapping of morphosyntactic structure to phonological representations a research area which is not only highly controversial but also approached in fundamentally different ways in theoretical morphology and phonology This volume brings together leading specialists from morphosyntax and morphophonology The authors address common problems questions and solutions in both areas and formulate a coherent research program for exponence which integrates the central insights of the last decades and provides important new challenges for the future The book is aimed at phonologists morphologists and syntacticians of all theoretical persuasions at graduate level and above

The Colonial Bible in Australia Hilary M. Carey, 2024-10-29 This book provides an extended introduction to the scripture translations of Biraban an Awabakal man and the missionary Lancelot Threlkeld It examines Threlkeld's linguistic field work in Raiatea prior to coming to New South Wales It places the translations he undertook in the context of Australian missionary linguistics and the rapid advance of the settler frontier for which he was a key eyewitness It analyses the motivation and collaboration between Biraban and Threlkeld in the light of discoveries of new manuscripts including that of the Gospel of St Matthew as well as Threlkeld's personal diary neither of which have previously been analysed The review includes a linguistic and ethnographic analysis of the complete corpus of Biraban and Threlkeld's collaboration It includes a complete list of the Threlkeld manuscripts and the many printed editions including those available online For historical purposes it includes a copy of the unique standalone edition of the Gospel of Saint Luke presented by the editor James Fraser to the British and Foreign Bible Society The original is now in Cambridge University Library It also includes a full digitisation of Threlkeld's autograph manuscript illuminated by Annie Layard in Auckland City Library
