Breaking The Silence French Womens Voices From The Ghetto:

Breaking the Silence Fadela Amara, 2006 Breaking the Silence Fadela Amara, Sylvia Zappi, 2006-04-28 The translation of Breaking the Silence allows us finally to listen directly to the voices of Muslim women in France Fadela Amara's book is at once autobiography an analysis of the degradation of male female relations in France's working class suburbs and an engrossing chronicle of a political movement Helen Chenut's deft translation and comprehensive introduction shows us complex universe inhabited by young women of North African descent in contemporary France Susanna Barrows author of Drinking Behavior and Belief in Modern History This book delivers a timely and evocative corrective to stereotypes of Muslim women Amara discusses with sensitivity the complex gender position of Muslim women in a Western European country in which the conflict between liberal republican ideals and cultural norms has had particularly violent consequences for women Chenut's fine translation brings Amara's words to life and her excellent introduction places the Muslim women's movement in the context of the racial and cultural tensions that plague France's banlieues today Laura Levine Frader co editor Gender and Class in Modern Europe The Multimedia Encyclopedia of Women in Today's World Mary Zeiss Stange, Carol K.

Oyster, Jane E. Sloan, 2013-01-09 This e only volume expands and updates the original 4 volume Encyclopedia of Women in Today's World 2011 offering a wide range of new entries and new multimedia content The entries reflect such developments as the Arab Spring that brought women's issues in the Islamic world into sharp relief the domination of female athletes among medal winners at the London 2012 Olympics nine more women joining the ranks of democratically elected heads of state and much more The 475 articles in this e only update accompanied by photos and video clips supplement the themes established in the original edition providing a vibrant collection of entries dealing with contemporary women's issues around the world

What Do We Do with a Difference?: France and the Debate Over Headscarves in Schools History An Facing History and Ourselves, 2008 This book focuses on the recent debates surrounding headscarves in public schools in France where the wearing of an article of clothing became the focus of intense national debate The book is divided into two parts Part One Framing the Discussion includes the following essays 1 Essay Immigration and Integration in Europe 2 France 3 The First Veil Affair 4 The Ban on Headscarves in Public Schools 5 Secularism in France 6 Secularity in the French Public Schools 7 Mixed Origin Religious Groups in Contemporary France 8 The Beur Generation and 9 Implications for Education and Democracy a Discussion Part Two Primary Documents includes the following readings 1 What Does It Mean to Be French 2 Integration and Exclusion 3 The Veil and a New Muslim Identity 4 a Brief History of the Veil in Islam 5 Public Schools Where New Citizens Are Made 6 The Veil at School 7 The Integration of Jews in Modern France 8 Debating the Ban of the Veil in Public Schools 9 France Bans the Veil in Public Schools and 10 Europeans Debating the Veil A preface by Adam Strom and an introduction by John R Bowen are included A glossary is included Individual sections contain footnotes Secrecy and Silence in the Research Process Roisin Ryan-Flood, Rosalind Gill, 2013-05-13 Feminist research is informed by a history of breaking silences of demanding that women's voices be heard recorded and included in wider intellectual genealogies and histories. This has led to an emphasis on voice and speaking out in the research endeavour. Moments of secrecy and silence are less often addressed. This gives rise to a number of questions: What are the silences, secrets, omissions and political consequences of such moments? What particular dilemmas and constraints do they represent or entail? What are their implications for research praxis? Are such moments always indicative of voicelessness or powerlessness? Or may they also constitute a productive moment in the research encounter? Contributors to this volume were invited to reflect on these questions. The resulting chapters are a fascinating collection of insights into the research process making an important contribution to theoretical and empirical debates about epistemology, subjectivity and identity in research. Researchers often face difficult dilemmas about who to represent and how, what to omit and what to include. This book explores such questions in an important and timely collection of essays from international scholars.

The Crisis of Multiculturalism in Europe Rita Chin, 2019-06-11 From the influx of immigrants in the 1950s to contemporary worries about refugees and terrorism, The Crisis of Multiculturalism in Europe examines the historical development of multiculturalism on the Continent. Rita Chin argues that there were few efforts to institute state-sponsored policies of multiculturalism and those that emerged were pronounced failures virtually from their inception. She shows that today's crisis of support for cultural pluralism isn't new but actually has its roots in the 1980s. Chin looks at the touchstones of European multiculturalism from the urgent need for laborers after World War II to the public furor over the publication of The Satanic Verses and the question of French girls wearing headscarves to school. While many Muslim immigrants had lived in Europe for decades in the 1980s, they came to be defined by their religion and the public's preoccupation with gender relations. Acceptance of sexual equality became the critical gauge of Muslims' compatibility with Western values. The convergence of left and right around the defense of such personal freedoms against a putatively illiberal Islam has threatened to undermine commitment to pluralism as a core ideal. Chin contends that renouncing the principles of diversity brings social costs, particularly for the left, and she considers how Europe might construct an effective political engagement with its varied population. Muslim Women Reformers Ida Lichter, 2009-12-30 In this inspiring compilation of stories from around the world, the voices of these long oppressed women ring loud and clear as they demand the social and political rights women lack in many Muslim countries.

Questioning French Secularism Jennifer Selby, 2016-04-06 Based on extensive ethnographic fieldwork, this book examines how contemporary secularism in France is positioned as a guarantor of women's rights. Selby argues that the complex fetishization of headscarves in public, governmental and feminist French discourse positions publicly visible Muslim women in ways that obscure their engagement with laïcité, French secularism.
