Animal Man Vol 1 The Hunt The New 5:

The Mind As a Scientific Object Christina E. Erneling, David M. Johnson, 2005-01-13 What holds together the various fields that are supposed to constitute the general intellectual discipline that people now call cognitive science In this book Erneling and Johnson identify two problems with defining this discipline First some theorists identify the common subject matter as the mind but scientists and philosophers have not been able to agree on any single satisfactory answer to the question of what the mind is Second those who speculate about the general characteristics that belong to cognitive science tend to assume that all the particular fields falling under the rubric psychology linguistics biology and son on are of roughly equal value in their ability to shed light on the nature of mind This book argues that all the cognitive science disciplines are not equally able to provide answers to ontological questions about the mind but rather that only neurophysiology and cultural psychology are suited to answer these questions However since the cultural account of mind has long been ignored in favor of the neurophysiological account Erneling and Johnson bring together contributions that focus especially on different versions of the cultural account of the mind
