Honarbin-Holliday, 2009-02-28 The state of women in Islamic societies is the subject of much interest and heated debate Yet these discussions and representations in the media and elsewhere rely on inadequate information and misperceptions imagining Muslim women as oppressed victims in need of liberation by outside forces Becoming Visible in Iran disputes these widespread stereotypes providing a vivid account of women in contemporary Iran as they go about their daily lives Beginning at home women are infusing dramatic change by challenging the patriarchal conceptions of their fathers brothers uncles and others within the intimate sphere of family and home Empowered by education they transport the power of their minds and being from the domestic to the public and political Mehri Honarbin Holliday presents the experiences of these young women who wield a key if indirect political influence on the seemingly male dominated politics of this society as they achieve a new visibility She shows us how women understand their place in contemporary Iranian society and how they interrogate it making demands for shifts in attitudes and behaviours both at home in relation to male relatives and in the wider world Women s daily existence weaves between the public and the private from home to classrooms parks metros cafes and taxis negotiating socio political limitations and the current regime s policies of female invisibility Detailed interviews and striking narratives draw our attention to the women s reflexive and critical stance and their desires to be recognized as independent and active architects of their own personal lives whilst also contributing to the discourses of change and a more just civil society From this fieldwork and focusing especially on young women Honarbin Holliday presents women s views on such key topics as public visibility body presentation and sexual curiosity in addition to education civil society and political and social change Highlighting links and continuities with the history of women in Iran from the early twentieth century to the present moment she shows how Iranian women today strive to be the author of one s fate to resist narrow interpretations of religion to conduct meaningful rich and complex lives to bring about change in the mindsets of male relatives and to contribute to legal and political debates in the country For its direct presentation of women s voices as well as its analysis and insight this book is a vital contribution to our understanding of the lives of Muslim women and the possibilities before them today

Researching Ethically across Cultures Anna Robinson-Pant, Nidhi Singal, 2018-02-02 Whether an individual doctoral study or a large scale multidisciplinary project, researchers working across cultures face particular challenges around power identity and voice as they encounter ethical dilemmas which extend beyond the micro level of the researcher researched relationship. In using a cross cultural perspective on how to conceptualise research problems, collect data and disseminate findings in an ethical manner, they also engage with the geopolitics of academic writing, language inequalities and knowledge construction within a globalised economy. It is increasingly recognised that existing ethical codes and paradigms either do not sufficiently address such issues or tend to be rather restrictive and insensitive to multiple and complex cultural and contextual differences. This book extends our understanding of the ethical issues and dilemmas faced by researchers in comparative and international education It asks what the relevance of postcolonial theory is for understanding research ethics in comparative and international education whether Western ethical practices in qualitative social research are incompatible with cultures outside the West how a situated approach can be developed for exploring research ethics across cultures and institutions and how informed consent can be negotiated when the process appears to contradict community values and practices In sharing experiences from a wide range of cultural and institutional contexts the authors offer both theoretical resources and practical guidance for conducting research ethically across cultures This book was originally published as a special issue of Compare: A Journal of Comparative and International Education
