acknowledge that the compilation of these letters has cost me no slight sacrifices I must also however mention that an unexpected Christmas donation generously bestowed on me with a view to further my efforts to promote the science of music enabled me to undertake one of the journeys necessary for my purpose and also to complete the revision of the Letters and of the press in the milder air and repose of a country residence long since recommended to me for the restoration of my health undermined by overwork That in spite of every effort I have not succeeded in seeing the original of each letter or even discovering the place where it exists may well be excused taking into consideration the slender capabilities of an individual and the astonishing manner in which Beethoven's Letters are dispersed all over the world At the same time I must state that not only have the hitherto inaccessible treasures of Anton Schindler's Beethoven's Nachlass been placed at my disposal but also other letters from private sources owing to various happy chances and the kindness and complaisance of collectors of autographs I know better however than most people being in a position to do so that in the present work there can be no pretension to any thing approaching to a complete collection of Beethoven's Letters The master so fond of writing though he often rather amusingly accuses himself of being a lazy correspondent may very probably have sent forth at least double the amount of the letters here given and there is no doubt whatever that a much larger number are still extant in the originals The only thing that can be done at this moment however is to make the attempt to bring to light at all events the letters that could be discovered in Germany The mass of those which I gradually accumulated and now offer to the public with the exception of some insignificant notes appeared to me sufficiently numerous and important to interest the world and also to form a substantial nucleus for any letters that may hereafter be discovered On the other hand as many of Beethoven's Letters slumber in foreign lands especially in the unapproachable cabinets of curiosities belonging to various close fist'd English collectors an entire edition of the correspondence could only be effected by a most disproportionate outlay of time and expense
