Education, Authority, and the Critical Citizen Neil Wilcock, 2023-08-24 This book offers a unique analysis of the tension between the individual and society in educational contexts and the role that citizenship and democratic education can play It approaches the question from two different perspectives the institutional and the interactional and argues that any solution must answer the tension from both or it will necessarily fail The answer is found through a political methodology that places education at the centre and concludes that a balance can be found if we embrace the federated disestablishment of education and state and internally democratic schooling that aims to realise the emancipation of the political child The book situates itself in the tradition of political philosophy that is education focused identifying an unresolved tension between the individual and society in the works of Rousseau Dewey and Freire It discusses the concept of authority as a primary issue persisting in this tension It does so by exploring both interactional and institutional responses based on the idea of the free individual and cooperative associations The author advocates an education system that creates the necessary space for the cultivation of the free individual and is run by the principles of internally democratic schooling With a strong focus on citizenship and the role of education in the development of social justice oriented citizens this book will be of great interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the fields of philosophy of education political philosophy educational theory and citizenship education landscape that she terms the Muslim Education Industrial Complex where religious knowledge has become a commodity This study offers profound insights into the challenges of intra Muslim dialogue and the adaptive resilience of American Sunni Muslim communities Amidst a digital age and the complexities of global geopolitics surrounding Islam it showcases how these communities reinterpret classical Islamic narratives navigating tradition to steer their path forward This book invites readers to ponder the evolution of Islamic learning the dynamics of authority and the enduring quest for knowledge amidst the currents of a rapidly changing world Authority, Passion, and Subject-Centered Teaching Christopher J.

Richmann,2024-08-27 This book asserts that authority is a contested category and explores why traditional notions of authority are increasingly in tension with progressive and postmodern claims devolving into stalemate schizophrenia or power plays Offering a Christian framework as a philosophically coherent and practical alternative for teachers the author argues that Jesus provides a pattern from which to reconstruct our conception of teaching authority in ways that align with evidence informed teaching practices and cultivate intellectual virtues Rather than examine Jesus as teacher the book instead applies the central insight on authority that Jesus embodies This authority with which Jesus taught it argues stemmed from his passion that is passive even suffering experience The author aligns this to a subject centered conception of teaching as opposed to student centered or teacher centered in which the subject is the authority and knowing is identified with being acted upon by the subject Teaching with authority thereby becomes a matter of unveiling suffering with students and inviting them into their own suffering encounter with the subject Building on the work on Parker Palmer and exploring pedagogical practice from a Christian perspective this book will appeal to scholars and researchers with interests in higher education evidence based teaching educational theory religion and education and Christian history and thought Who's Afraid of Political Education? Henry Tam,2024-12-10 Democracy should enable citizens to play an informed role in determining how power is exercised for their common wellbeing but this only works if people have the understanding skills and confidence to engage effectively in public affairs Otherwise any voting system can be subverted to serve the interests of propagandists and demagogues This book brings together leading experts on learning for democracy to explore why and how the gap in civic competence should be bridged Drawing on research findings and case examples from the UK the US and elsewhere it will set out why change is necessary what could be taught differently to ensure effective political engagement and how a lasting impact in improving citizens learning for democratic participation can be made Making Sense of Education Gert

Biesta,2012-06-05 This volume gives educational theorists the chance to let rip and say what they really want to say In doing so it sends a blast of fresh air through the dusty halls of academe The vast majority of the literature in education theory and philosophy follows the conventions of academic writing and rightly so Yet its formal abstract and objective style which focuses on the careful presentation of theoretical and philosophical arguments doesn't always give us insights into what motivates and drives the authors while for academic neophytes it can be dense and arcane Here those same theorists and philosophers have been given the chance to expound at length on the topics that most exercise them What concerns them what gets them up in the morning and what really matters most to them Readers will discover what happens when these thinkers are explicitly invited to go beyond academic conventions and experiment with form style and content Featuring collected essays from leading educationalists from Norway Sweden Denmark the USA Canada Israel Germany Belgium and the UK these essays provide vital insights into their work as well as being a compelling introduction to contemporary attempts to make sense of education through theory and philosophy All these authors have made key contributions to the field and their unique manifestos make a fascinating read for any student or practitioner in education
