Autobiographics A Feminist Theory Of Womens Autobiography Reading Women Writing:

Autobiographics Leigh Gilmore, 1994 In the first comprehensive feminist critique of autobiography as a genre Leigh Gilmore incorporates writings that have not up to now been considered part of the autobiographical tradition Offering subtle and perceptive readings of a wide variety of texts from the confessions of medieval mystics to contemporary works by Chicana and lesbian writers she identifies an innovative practice of autobiographics which covers the entire spectrum of women s self representation

Women, Autobiography, Theory Sidonie Smith, Julia Watson, 1998 The first comprehensive guide to the burgeoning field of women s autobiography Essays from 39 prominent critics and writers explore narratives across the centuries and from around the globe A list of more than 200 women s autobiographies and a comprehensive bibliography provide invaluable information for scholars teachers and readers

A History of Women's Writing in Russia Adele Marie Barker, Jehanne M. Gheith, 2002-07-11 A History of Women s Writing in Russia offers a comprehensive account of the lives and works of Russia s women writers Based on original and archival research this volume forces a re examination of many of the traditionally held assumptions about Russian literature and women s role in the tradition In setting about the process of reintegrating women writers into the history of Russian literature contributors have addressed the often surprising contexts within which women s writing has been produced Chapters reveal a flourishing literary tradition where none was thought to exist They redraw the map defining Russia s literary periods they look at how Russia s women writers articulated their own experience and they reassess their relationship to the dominant male tradition The volume is supported by extensive reference features including a bibliography and guide to writers and their works

Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly, 2013-12-04 First published in 2001 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Women's Studies Linda Krikos, Cindy Ingold, 2004-08-30 This truly monumental work maps the literature of women s studies covering thousands of titles and Web sites in 19 subject areas published between 1985 and 1999 Intended as a reference and collection development tool this bibliography provides a guide for women s studies information for each title along with a detailed often evaluative review The annotations summarize each work s content its importance or contribution to women s studies and its relationship to other titles on the subject Core titles and titles that are out of print are noted and reviews indicate which titles are appropriate as texts or supplemental texts This definitive guide to the literature of women s studies is a must purchase for academic libraries that support women s studies programs and it is a useful addition to any academic or public library that endeavors to represent the field A team of subject specialists has taken on the immense task of documenting publications in the area of women s studies in the last decades of the 20th century The result is this truly monumental work which maps the field covering thousands of titles and Web sites in 19 subject areas published between 1985 and 1999 Intended as a reference and collection development tool this bibliography provides a guide for women s studies information for each title along with a detailed often evaluative review The annotations summarize each work's content its importance or contribution to women's studies and its relationship to other titles on the subject. Most reviews cite and describe similar and contrasting titles substantially extending the coverage. Core titles and titles that are out of print are noted and reviews indicate which titles are appropriate as texts or supplemental texts. Taking up where the previous volume by Loeb Searing and Stineman left off, this is the definitive guide to the literature of women's studies. It is a must purchase for academic libraries that support women's studies programs and a welcome addition to any academic or public library that endeavors to represent the field.

Consuming Autobiographies Claire Boyle, 2017-12-02 Since 1975 French literary writing has been marked by an autobiographical turn which has seen authors increasingly often tap into the vein of what the French term écriture de soi. This coincides paradoxically with the death of autobiography as these authors self-consciously distance themselves and their writings from conventional autobiography, founding a nouvelle autobiographie where the very possibility of autobiographical expression is questioned. In the first book-length study in English to address this phenomenon, Claire Boyle sheds a new light on this hostility toward autobiography through a series of ground-breaking studies of estrangement in autobiographical works by major post-war authors: Nathalie Sarraute, Georges Perec, Jean Genet, and Hélène Cixous. She identifies autobiography as a site of conflict between writer and reader as authors struggle to assert the unknowableness of their identity in the face of a readership resolutely desiring privileged knowledge. Autobiography emerges as a deeply troubling genre for authors with the reader as an antagonistic consumer of the autobiographical self.

Reader's Guide to Lesbian and Gay Studies Timothy Murphy, 2013-10-18 The Reader's Guide to Lesbian and Gay Studies surveys the field in some 470 entries on individuals, Adrienne Rich, arts and cultural studies, Dance, ethics, religion, and philosophical issues, Monastic Traditions, historical figures, periods, and ideas, Germany between the World Wars, language, literature, and communication, British Drama, law and politics, Child Custody, medicine and biological sciences, Health and Illness, and psychology, social sciences, and education, Kinsey Report.

Postcolonial Representations Françoise Lionnet, 1995 Discussing a variety of postcolonial narratives written by women, Lionnet offers a comparative feminist approach that can provide common ground for debates on such issues as multiculturalism, universalism, and relativism.

Encyclopedia of Feminist Theories Lorraine Code, 2002-06-01 The path-breaking Encyclopedia of Feminist Theories is an accessible multidisciplinary insight into the complex field of feminist thought. The Encyclopedia contains over 500 authoritative entries commissioned from an international team of contributors and includes clear, concise, and provocative explanations of key themes and ideas. Each entry contains cross-references and a bibliographic guide to further reading. Over 50 biographical entries provide readers with a sense of how the theories they encounter have developed out of the lives and situations of their authors.

Reading Arab Women's Autobiographies Nawar Al-Hassan Golley, 2010-01-01 Authors of autobiographies are always engaged in creating a self to present to their readers. This process of self-creation raises a number of intriguing questions: why and how does anyone choose to present herself or himself in an autobiography? Do women and men represent themselves in different ways and if so why How do differences in culture affect the writing of autobiography in various parts of the world This book tackles these questions through a close examination of Arab women s autobiographical writings Nawar Al Hassan Golley applies a variety of western critical theories including Marxism colonial discourse feminism and narrative theory to the autobiographies of Huda Shaarawi Fadwa Tuqan Nawal el Saadawi and others to demonstrate what these critical methodologies can reveal about Arab women s writing At the same time she also interrogates these theories against the chosen texts to see how adequate or appropriate these models are for analyzing texts from other cultures This two fold investigation sheds important new light on how the writers or editors of Arab women s autobiographies have written documented presented and organized their texts
