After the Empires P. Preston, 2014-08-26 The shift to the modern world in East Asia was accomplished in part via the experience of colonial rule in the late nineteenth century Following imperial crisis in the 1930s and 1940s independent nation states formed from which the political structure of East Asia is based today

Liberal Internationalism and the Decline of the State P. Hammarlund, 2005-03-01 This book provides a critical analysis of the liberal ideas of the decline of the state through a historical comparison It takes special note of the implications of state failure to control economic growth and market exigencies for international relations The book is divided into three sections The first analyzes Cobden Mitrany and Ohmae's empirical claims the second looks at their normative judgements and the third looks at their predictive assertions It concludes that the three primarily propose normative arguments for less state involvement in economic and international relations but conceal them in empirical and predictive assertions The liberal idea of the decline of the state is more of an ideological statement in response to political social and economic trends than an objective observation of an empirically verifiable fact

Theodore H. Moran, 1993 Anthropologica , 2002 Losing Time Otis Graham, 1994-01-04 Industrial policy reform Otis Graham argues is an important part of a public private set of remedies but it hinges upon an improved use of policy history and of historical perspective generally He proposes an explicit if minimalist approach by the federal government that would unify and reform our de facto industrial policies in order to equip the United States with the institutional capacity to formulate industrial interventions guided by strategic vision and bipartisan participation by labor and management
