Lars-Christer Hydén, Hilde Lindemann and Jens Brockmeier (eds), Beyond loss: dementia, identity, personhood, Oxford University Press: UK, 2014; 224 pp. ISBN: 978-0-19-996926-5, £35.99, (hardback)

The notion of loss is central to popular as well as medical conceptions of dementia. Different cognitive and linguistic losses involved in the progression of the illness are the focus of much attention. As its title suggests, the edited book Beyond Loss: Dementia, Identity, Personhood seeks to move beyond this well-established focus on loss. Instead, it puts forth an understanding of dementia in terms of transformation of personhood and identity that is shared with others and takes place within a larger social context. Gathering contributions from a range of disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives, such as the caring and health sciences, nursing, psychology, philosophy, medical anthropology, gerontology, neuropsychology, linguistics and communication studies, this book explores how persons with conditions of dementia (particularly Alzheimer's disease), remain active agents in communicating with others, navigating and making sense of the world and of their own changing condition.

Beyond Loss seeks to challenge both a deep-rooted focus on the person as an isolated individual and the widespread notion that loss of cognitive and linguistic abilities across the trajectory also implies a progressive loss of selfhood and identity. It takes issue with the traditional view that considers individual cognitive abilities and memory the essence of a person's identity, locating cognitive abilities and personhood exclusively in the brain. In contrast to such a view, each chapter stresses the relational character of personhood and draws attention to different ways in which persons are situated in relation to others and the surrounding social, cultural and physical world. They further point to the formative aspects of these relations and discuss personhood and identity in terms of continuous processes of transformation and change.

The book consists of 12 chapters and is divided into three parts: (1) personhood and dignity, (2) agentive identity and embodiment and (3) communication in families and institutions. The first part on personhood and dignity, with chapters by Hilde Lindemann, Steven R. Sabat, Lennart Nordenfelt and Ingrid Hellström, focuses on the person with dementia in a way that foregrounds remaining abilities and qualities as key for upholding a sense of self and personhood in the face of progressing dementia. The chapters by Nordenfelt and Hellström provide, in different ways, careful and much needed reflection on the meaning(s) of dignity, a notion that has perhaps become taken for granted in discussions on personhood and emptied out of concrete meaning. Beyond Loss Dementia Identity Personhood:

Beyond Loss Lars C. Hydén, Hilde Lindemann, Jens Brockmeier, 2014-05-26 Coming to terms with dementia is one of the great challenges of our time. This volume of new interdisciplinary essays by internationally established scholars offers new ways of understanding and dealing with it. It explores views of dementia that go beyond the idea of loss and rather envision it as multilayered transformation and change of personhood and identity and as development that mostly is socially shared with others. The studies collected here identify new empirical, theoretical, and methodological areas that will be crucial to future research and clinical practice concerned with age-related dementia. Three general themes are singled out as of particular importance and interest: persons and personhood, identity and agency, and the social and the communal.

Entangled Narratives Lars-Christer Hydén, 2018 As people are living longer on average than ever before, the number of those with dementia will increase. Because many will live a considerable time at home with their diagnosis, we need to know more about the ways people can adapt to and learn to live with dementia in their everyday lives. Lars Christer Hydén argues in this book that to do so will involve reimagining what dementia really is and what it can mean to the afflicted and their loved ones. One of the most important everyday opportunities for sharing experiences is the simple act of storytelling. But when someone close to you gradually loses the ability to tell stories and cherish the shared history you have together, this is seen as a threat to the relationship, to the feeling of belonging together, and to the identity of the person diagnosed. Therefore, learning about how people with dementia can participate in storytelling along with their families and friends helps to sustain those relationships and identities. In Entangled Narratives, Hydén not only emphasizes the possibilities that are inherent in collaborative storytelling but instructs professionals and otherwise healthy relatives to learn how to effectively listen and ultimately re-imagine their patients and loved ones as collaborative meaning makers in their lives.

Human Dignity and Assisted Death Sebastian Muders, 2018 Assisted dying and human dignity are two extremely contested topics in bioethics. This volume offers the first book-length attempt to bring both together. Its authors develop detailed philosophical analyses of dignity and how it relates to assisted suicide and euthanasia.

Narrative and Mental Health Jarmila Mildorf, Elisabeth Punzi, Christoph Singer, 2023 This book foregrounds the importance of narrative as a conceptual paradigm for understanding mental health issues, presenting stories as an alternative source of knowledge and expression. At the same time, the volume acknowledges potential limitations of narrative paradigms, especially when these are coupled with normative expectations of truthfulness, coherence, and comprehensiveness.
