The Population Ecology of Interest Representation Virginia Gray, David Lowery, 1996 This examination of lobbying communities explores how interest group populations are constructed and how they influence politics and public policy By examining how populations of interest groups are comprised this work fills an important gap between existing theories of the origins of individual interest groups and studies of interest group influence The population ecology model of interest communities developed here builds on insights first developed in population biology and later employed by organizational ecologists The model's central premise is that it is the environmental forces confronting interest organizations that most directly shape the contours of interest populations After examining the demography of interest organizations in the fifty American states the population ecology model is used to account for variations in the density and diversity of their interest communities the nature of competition among similar interest organizations to establish viable niches and the impact of alternative configurations of interest communities on the legislative process and the policies it produces These empirical findings suggest that the environment of interest communities is highly constraining limiting their size composition and potential impact on politics Virginia Gray is Professor of Political Science University of Minnesota David Lowery is Burton Craige Professor of Political Science University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Population Genetics, Evolution and Gamete Biology Mr. Rohit Manglik, 2024-03-15 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels Textbook of Environment and Ecology Vir Singh, 2024-03-22 This textbook is focused on fundamentals of environment and ecology for undergraduate and graduate students This is first of its kind book dealing with physical environment ecosystems biological diversity environmental pollution and environment influenced natural resource ecology and management This will cater to the needs of the students examinees trainees and teachers It consists of 23 chapters spread over 5 sections i.e. ecosystem analysis natural resources biodiversity environmental disruptions and
