Biopiracy Of Biodiversity Global Exchange As Enclosure:

Biopiracy of Biodiversity A. Mushita, Carol B. Thompson, 2007 The Custodians of Biodiversity Manuel Ruiz, Ronnie Vernooy, 2012-03-15 Globally local and indigenous approaches to conserving biodiversity crop improvement and managing precious natural resources are under threat Many communities have to deal with biopiracy for example As well existing laws are usually unsuitable for protecting indigenous and traditional knowledge and for recognizing collective rights such as in cases of participatory plant breeding where farmers researchers and others join forces to improve existing crop varieties or develop new ones based on shared knowledge and resources This book addresses these issues It outlines the national and international policy processes that are currently underway to protect local genetic resources and related traditional knowledge and the challenges these initiatives have faced In particular these themes are addressed within the context of the Convention of Biological Diversity and the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture The authors broaden the policy and legal debates beyond the sphere of policy experts to include the knowledge holders themselves These are the custodians of biodiversity farmers herders and fishers in local communities Their experience in sharing access and benefits to genetic resources is shown to be crucial for the development of effective national and international agreements The book presents and analyzes this experience including case studies from China Cuba Honduras Jordan Nepal Peru and Syria Copublished with the International Development Research Centre IDRC Rethinking

Zimbabwe's prospects for transformation Murisa, Tendai, Chikweche, Tendai, 2015-12-01 Over the past years few African countries have been the focus of discussions and analyses generating a vast array of literature as much as Zimbabwe The socioeconomic and political crises since the turn of the century have deeply transformed the country from the ideals of a vibrant freshly independent nation just two decades earlier These transformations have necessitated the call for the restructuring of Zimbabwean society polity and economy But this literature remains exclusively within the realm of academic thinking and theorising with no concerted effort to move beyond this by explicitly drawing out the policy implications Beyond the Crises Zimbabwe's Prospects for Transformation is a welcome addition to the academic and policy literature with a much broader and all embracing focus in terms of policy interventions By focusing on different aspects of social and economic justice Murisa and Chikweche go beyond initiating a broad discussion on these two key pillars of human development with a view to suggesting possible future directions of practical solutions and policy development for the attainment of inclusive social and economic justice for Zimbabweans Power of the Talking Stick Sharon J Ridgeway, Peter J Jacques, 2015-11-17

The Power of the Talking Stick makes the case that reaching back to the beginning of the nation state and all through the current period of corporate led globalisation our governments and social institutions have been engaged in activities that will ultimately extinguish the world's ecological life support systems This book offers an alternative listening to indigenous leaders and others whose voices often go unheard in the din of contemporary culture Sharon Ridgeway and Peter Jacques offer a stark warning but their insights are firmly grounded in traditional knowledge and provide a way to see past the politics and rescue the earth An important resource for climate activists students and academics The Cultural Value of Trees Jeffrey Wall, 2022-06-01

This volume focuses on the tree as a cultural and biological form and examines the concept of folk value and its implications for biocultural conservation Folk value refers to the value of the more than human living world to cultural cohesion and survival as opposed to individual well being This field of value comprising cosmological aesthetic eco erotic sentimental mnemonic value and much more serves as powerful motivation for the local performance of environmental care The motivation to maintain and conserve ecology for the purpose of cultural survival will be the central focus of this book as the conditions of the Anthropocene urgently require the identification understanding and support of enduring self perpetuating biocultural associations The geographical scope is broad with chapters discussing different tree species from the Americas and the Caribbean East Asia Eurasia and Australia and Africa By focusing on the tree one of the most reliably cross culturally valued and cross culturally recognized biological forms and one which invariably defines expansive landscapes this work illuminates how folk value binds the survival of more than human life forms with the survival of specific peoples in the era of biocultural loss the Anthropocene As such this collection of cross cultural cases of tree folk value represents a low hanging fruit for the larger project of exploring the power of cultural value of the more than human living world This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of conservation biodiversity biocultural studies and environmental anthropology Routledge Handbook of Environmental Anthropology Helen Kopnina, Eleanor Shoreman-Ouimet, 2016-08-12

Environmental Anthropology studies historic and present human environment interactions This volume illustrates the ways in which today's environmental anthropologists are constructing new paradigms for understanding the multiplicity of players pressures and ecologies in every environment and the value of cultural knowledge of landscapes This Handbook provides a comprehensive survey of contemporary topics in environmental anthropology and thorough discussions on the current state and prospective future of the field in seven key sections As the contributions to this Handbook demonstrate the subfield of environmental anthropology is responding to cultural adaptations and responses to environmental changes in multiple and complex ways As a discipline concerned primarily with human environment interaction environmental anthropologists recognize that we are now working within a pressure cooker of rapid environmental damage that is forcing behavioural and often cultural changes around the world As we see in the breadth of topics presented in this volume these environmental challenges have inspired renewed foci on traditional topics such as food procurement ethnobiology and spiritual ecology and a broad new range of subjects such as resilience nonhuman rights architectural anthropology industrialism and education This volume enables scholars and students quick access to both established and trending environmental anthropological explorations into theory methodology and practice
