Biopolitics and Memory in Postcolonial Literature and Culture Michael R. Griffiths, 2017-05-15 From the Truth and Reconciliation Commission in South Africa to the United Nations Permanent Memorial to the Victims of Slavery and the Transatlantic Slave Trade many worthwhile processes of public memory have been enacted on the national and international levels But how do these extant practices of memory function to precipitate justice and recompense Are there moments when such techniques performances and displays of memory serve to obscure and elide aspects of the history of colonial governmentality This collection addresses these and other questions in essays that take up the varied legacies continuities modes of memorialization and poetics of remaking that attend colonial governmentality in spaces as varied as the Maghreb and the Solomon Islands Highlighting the continued injustices arising from a process whose aftermath is far from settled the contributors examine works by twentieth century authors representing Asia Africa North America Latin America Australia and Europe Imperial practices throughout the world have fomented a veritable culture of memory The essays in this volume show how the legacy of colonialism s attempt to transform the mode of life of colonized peoples has been central to the largely unequal phenomenon of globalization

Cajun Literature and Cajun Collective Memory Mathilde Köstler, 2022-12-19 How does Cajun literature emerging in the 1980s represent the dynamic processes of remembering in Cajun culture. Known for its hybrid constitution and deeply ingrained oral traditions, Cajun culture provides an ideal testing ground for investigating the collective memory of a group. In particular, francophone and anglophone Cajun texts by such writers as Jean Arceneaux, Tim Gautreaux, Jeanne Castille, Zachary Richard, Ron Thibodeaux, Darrell Bourque, and Kirby Jambon reveal not only a shift from an oral to a written tradition. They also show hybrid perspectives on the Cajun collective memory. Based on recurring references to place, the texts also reflect on the Acadian past and reveal the innate ability of the Cajuns to adapt through repeated intertextual references. The Cajun collective memory is thus defined by a transnational outlook, a transversality cutting across various ethnic heritages to establish and legitimize a collective identity both amid the linguistic and cultural diversity in Louisiana and in the face of American mainstream culture.

Cajun Literature and Cajun Collective Memory represents the first analysis of the mnemonic strategies Cajun writers use to explore and sustain the Cajun identity and collective memory. Holocaust Memory and Racism in the Postwar World Shirli Gilbert, Avril Alba, 2019-07-08 Holocaust Memory and Racism in the Postwar World is intended for students and scholars of Holocaust and genocide studies, professionals working in museums and heritage organizations, and anyone interested in building on their knowledge of the Holocaust and the discourse of racism. Public Space Reader Miodrag Mitrašinić, Vikas Mehta, 2021-03-30 Recent global appropriations of public spaces through urban activism, public uprising, and political protest have brought back democratic values, beliefs, and practices that have been historically associated with cities. Given the aggressive commodification of public resources, public space is critically important due to its capacity to enable forms of public discourse and social practice which are fundamental for the well-being of democratic societies. Public Space Reader brings together public space scholarship by a cross-disciplinary group of academics and specialists whose essays consider fundamental questions: What is public space and how does it manifest larger cultural, social, and political processes? How are public spaces designed, socially and materially produced, and managed? How does this impact the nature and character of public experience? What roles does it play in the struggles for the just city and the Right to the City? What critical participatory approaches can be employed to create inclusive public spaces that respond to the diverse needs, desires, and aspirations of individuals and communities alike? What are the critical global and comparative perspectives on public space that can enable further scholarly and professional work? And what are the futures of public space in the face of global pandemics such as COVID-19? The readers of this volume will be rewarded with an impressive array of perspectives that are bound to expand critical understanding of public space. Women, Urbanization and Sustainability Anita Lacey, 2017-03-28 This work considers the city as a gendered space and examines women's experiences and engagement in both urbanization and sustainability. Such a focus offers distinctive insights into the question of what it means for a city to be sustainable, asking further how sustainability needs to work with gender and the gendered lives of cities' inhabitants. Vitally, it considers women's lives in cities and their work to forge more sustainable cities through a wide variety of means including governmental non governmental and local grassroots and individual efforts towards sustainable urban life The volume is transnational offering case studies from a wide range of city sites and sustainability efforts It explores crucial questions such as the gendered nature and women s experiences of current urbanization the gendered nature of urban sustainability thinking and programmes and local alternatives and resistances to dominant modes of addressing urbanization challenges

Chris Abani Annalisa Oboe,Elisa Bordin,2022-02-22 This is the first full length book on the work of global Igbo writer Chris Abani The volume dedicates a chapter to each of Abani s fiction books the two novellas Becoming Abigail 2006 and Song for Night 2007 the three novels GraceLand 2004 The Virgin of Flames 2007 and The Secret History of Las Vegas 2014 which are read against the grain of Abani s most important essays and poetical production By combining close readings and more theoretical reflections this volume provides a significant insight for both scholars and students interested in the literature produced by the emerging African voices in the twentieth first century in the debate about human rights and in general in how aesthetics is deeply linked with ethics

Necrofiction and The Politics of Literary Memory Oana Panaïté,2022-06-15 Contemporary literature gathers in a commemorative site the remains of H history and its own story by erecting literary tombs Necrofiction and The Politics of Literary Memory argues that current narratives of the aftermath enable writers to honour the past while casting off its burdensome legacy and to dismantle while reassembling affective political and aesthetic communities The genre is defined and discussed in relation to other literary forms such as trauma writing historical novels archival narratives biofiction or field literature Necrofiction fulfils in distinct ways the social and artistic function of an individual or collective act of remembrance of a lost family member or a historical figure At the same time it offers a creative space in which the authors can overcome the burden of literary tradition by incorporating existing models and devices into their own poetic art while as demonstrated by the works of five writers whose personal and artistic trajectories transcend political cultural and linguistic frontiers Linda L Patrick Modiano Assia Djebar Patrick Chamoiseau and Maylis de Kerangal By examining the ways in which fiction both reflects and resists what Achille Mbembe has defined as necropolitics Necrofiction and The Politics of Literary Memory delves into the contentious yet intimate relationship between singular models of literary remembrance and the frameworks of hegemonic discourses
