Summits & Regional Governance Gordon Mace, Jean-Philippe Therien, Diana Tussie, Olivier Dabène, 2015-10-30 Despite the large number of regional and global summits there is very little known about the functioning and impact of this particular type of diplomatic practice While recognizing that the growing importance of summits is a universal phenomenon this volume takes advantage of the richness of the Americas experiment to offer a theoretically grounded comparative analysis of contemporary summitry The book addresses questions such as How effective have summits been How have civil society and other non state actors been involved in summits How have summits impacted on the management of regional affairs Filling a significant void in the literature this volume offers an original contribution helping to understand how summitry has become a central feature of world politics It will be of great interest to students and scholars of diplomacy international organizations and global regional governance

Institutionalised Summits in International Governance Daniel Odinius, 2021-10-21 This book analyses the role of institutionalised summits in international governance adding a fresh perspective to the controversial debate over the value of institutionalised summits for international governance It argues that the contribution of these summits to negotiating and implementing international agreements on policy change is ambivalent Based on an innovative theoretical model the book proposes that states strategically select summits with their specific institutional design for advancing their policy preferences Developing the route to the summit and the route from the summit as precise causal mechanisms the author argues that these choices explain the ambivalence of summit involvement With empirically rich case studies on the Group of 7 G7 and the European Council the book provides a rare systematic comparison of different summits The empirical record shows strikingly similar patterns for the G7 and the European Council but it also points to variation deserving further attention in the study of summits in different institutional environments It will be of interest to researchers in International Relations Global Governance and European Politics and those interested in global institutions and decision making

The Oxford Handbook of Peaceful Change in International Relations T. V. Paul, Deborah Welch Larson, Harold A. Trinkunas, Anders Wivel, Ralf Emmers, 2021

Abstract With the rapid rise of China and the relative decline of the United States the topic of power transition conflicts is back in popular and scholarly attention The discipline of International Relations offers much on why violent power transition conflicts occur yet very few substantive treatments exist on why and how peaceful changes happen in world politics This Handbook is the first comprehensive treatment of the subject of peaceful change in International Relations It contains some 41 chapters all written by scholars from different theoretical and conceptual backgrounds examining the multi faceted dimensions of this subject In the first part key conceptual and definitional clarifications are offered and in the second part papers address the historical origins of peaceful change as an International Relations subject matter during the Inter War Cold War and Post Cold War eras In the third part each of the IR theoretical traditions and paradigms in particular Realism liberalism constructivism and critical perspectives and their distinct views on peaceful change are analyzed In the fourth part papers tackle the key material ideational and social sources of change In the fifth part the papers explore selected great and middle powers and their foreign policy contributions to peaceful change realizing that many of these states have violent past or tend not to pursue peaceful policies consistently In part six the contributors evaluate the peaceful change that occurred in the world s key regions In the final part the editors address prospective research agenda and trajectories on this important subject matter Keywords Peaceful Change War Security International Relations Theory Sources of Change Systemic Theory Realism Liberalism Constructivism Critical Theories

Regional Economic Communities and Integration in Southern Africa Leon Mwamba Tshimpaka, Christopher Changwe Nshimbi, Inocent Moyo, 2021-05-07 This book examines regional integration in Africa with a particular focus on the Southern African Development Community SADC It argues that the SADC s pursuit of a rationalist and state centric form of integration for Southern Africa is limited as it overlooks the contributory role and efficacy of non state actors who are relegated to the periphery The book demonstrates that civil society networks in Southern Africa constitute well governed self organised entities that function just like formal regional arrangements driven by state actors and technocrats The book amplifies this point by deploying New Institutionalism and the New Regionalism Approach to examine the role and efficacy of non state actors in building regions from below The book develops a unique typology that shows how Southern African regional civil society networks adopt strategies norms and rules to establish an efficient form of alternative integration in the region Based on a critical analysis of this self organised regionalism the book projects the reality that alternative regionalism driven by non state actors is possible This book expands the study of regionalism in the SADC and makes a significant and innovative contribution to the study of contemporary regionalism
