Bodies In Pieces Fantastic Narrative And The Poetics Of The Fragment:

Bodies in Pieces Deborah A. Harter, 1996 Bodies in Pieces explores the insistent presence of the fragmented body in fantastic narrative of the nineteenth century its characteristic beating hearts and severed hands its breasts and feet and teeth and lost meshes of hair In the process it uncovers a poetics of the fragment that both fundamentally defines this genre and links it to its contemporary and other the realist novel Reading texts from Hoffmann to Maupassant from Balzac and Poe to Villiers de l Isle Adam the author reflects on the body's production through both textual and subjective shattering on its violation of material and discursive categories and on its depiction of the mutilated feminine in terms of a transparently male agony She asks how this body's pieces function to determine fantastic discourse from what violence they are produced to whom they belong And she suggests that in contradistinction to the structured and structuring unities of the realist novel the fragmented body in fantastic narrative represents this genre's underlying fascination with all that is fragmentary and incomplete But this study discovers in this narrative form more than just a poetics of the fragment It discovers as well that just as the realist novel is fraught with parts that finally give the lie to its desperate efforts at achieving unity constructing the human body itself in ways that reveal its careful patchwork of pieces so the fragment in fantastic narrative betrays a certain anguished gesture toward its own different vision of wholeness Adding to her discussion the novels of Dickens Eliot and Flaubert the author proposes that the differing strategies of these two genres the one pressing toward the other away from totalization are a complementary set of terms in a single imaginative system In this system fantastic narrative becomes for the realist novel far less an opposing than a reflective other while realist discourse is discovered in all its fragmented fantastic nature

Method in Madness Jutta Emma Fortin, 2005 The language of the fantastic left its mark upon many different thinkers in 19th century Europe Marx's comparison of consumer goods to fetish objects works by Villiers de l Isle Adam or other novelists about machines that assume lives of their own or the diagnoses of psychological illness offered by doctors in Maupassant's tales all blur the lines between scientific description and beliefs in the magical Building upon a wealth of critical studies devoted to the fantastic and upon Freud's theory of the unconscious Jutta Fortin proposes that many classic stories of the fantastic undermine basic psychological mechanisms that are designed to help their users cope with shocking or disturbing events By defining five of these defence mechanisms and analyzing stories by eight writers that both illustrate and subvert such mechanisms Dr Fortin offers reasons why fantastic stories appealed to those readers who wished to better understand human motivations controversial development of the concept of the fantastic At the same time the majority of the contributions also investigate a broader context of specific social political and economic conditions that frame the fantastic of the fin de si cle They examine how fantastic genres use narrative manipulations and how they incorporate various ideas of scientific development and progress by highlighting the role of religion cultural anxiety and social crisis as well as exploring the ways such genres use the fantastic for various purposes of cultural and social subversion Fin de si cle fantastic literature is also investigated across a variety of cultures as reflected in Scottish Canadian Australian American and British writing with particular emphasis on their predominant cultural or generic aspects the genesis of the fin de si cle fantastic in some of these cultures and literatures and their relations to a wider historical and cultural framework The essays as a whole represent the work of scholars working in a diverse range of fields and therefore adopt a wide range of approaches to the fantastic As such this volume provides a fresh and stimulating platform for further rethinking of the concept of the fantastic and its relation to fin de si cle literature and its theoretical philosophical generic and other implications within a broader literary social and cultural context

Film and Fiction T. A. Shippey, Martin Arnold, 2003 Essays on the continuing power and applicability of medieval images with particular reference to recent films The middle ages provide the material for mass market films for historical and fantasy fiction for political propaganda and claims of legitimacy and these in their turn exert a force well outside academia The phenomenon is too important to be left unscrutinised these essays show the continuing power and applicability of medieval images and also it must be said their dangerousness and often their falsity Of the ten essays in this volume several examine modern movies including the highly successful A Knight's Tale Chaucer as a PR agent and the much derided First Knight the Round Table fights the Gulf War Others deal with the appropriation of history and literature by a variety of interested parties King Alfred press ganged for the Royal Navy and the burghers of Winchester in 1901 William Langland discovered as a prophet of future Socialism Chaucer at once venerated and tidied into New England respectability Vikings Normans and Saxons are claimed as forebears and disowned as losers in works as complex as Rider Haggard's Eric Brighteyes at once neo saga and anti saga Victorian melodrama provides the clichés of the bad baronet who revives the droit de seigneur but baronets are notoriously modern creations and of the bony grasping hand of the Catholic Church and its canon lawyers an image spread in ways eerily reminiscent of the modern urban legend in its Internet forms Contributors BRUCE BRASINGTON WILLIAM CALIN CARL HAMMER JONA HAMMER PAUL HARDWICK NICKOLAS HAYDOCK GWENDOLYN MORGAN JOANNE PARKER CLARE A SIMMONS WILLIAM F WOODS Professor TOM SHIPPEY teaches in the Department of English at the University of St Louis Dr MARTIN ARNOLD teaches at University College Scarborough

Contemporary Italian Women Writers and Traces of the Fantastic Danielle Hipkins, 2017-12-02 Contemporary fantastic fiction particularly that written by women often challenges traditional literary practice At the same time the predominantly male authored canon of fantastic literature offers a problematic range of gender stereotypes for female authors to re write Fantastic tropes of space in particular enable three important contemporary Italian female writers Paola Capriolo b 1962 Francesca Duranti b 1935 and Rossana Ombres b 1931 to encounter and counter anxieties about writing from the female

subject All three writers begin by exploring the hermetic fantastic space of enclosure with a critical or troubled eye but eventually opt for wider national and often international spaces in which only a fantastic trace remains This shift mirrors their own increasingly confident distance from male authored literary models and demonstrates the creative input that these writers bring to the literary canon by redefining its generic boundaries Literature, the Gothic and the Reconstruction of History Daniel Renshaw, Neil Cocks, 2025-01-31 In the Gothic nothing stays buried for long Since its inception in the mid eighteenth century the Gothic imagination has been concerned with the pasts of the societies from which it emerged This collection featuring contributions from archivists historians and literary critics examines how horror fiction and the wider Gothic mode have engaged with the constructed conception of history From Victorian nightmares of Jurassic jungles to ghost stories on the contemporary stage the contributors adopt varied and innovative approaches to consider how the Gothic has created complicated and sometimes subverted historical narratives In doing so these works blur the distinctions between the historical record and creative endeavour undermine linear and sequential understandings of the progress of time and dissolve temporal boundaries The collection explores a variety of Gothic forms including drama poetry prose illustration film and folklore and it draws on classic texts such as Wuthering Heights and Dracula as well as less familiar works including Reynolds The Mysteries of London and Baldini's Mal aria Literature the Gothic and the Reconstruction of History will be invaluable to students and scholars interested in the confluences of literary and historical endeavour the creation and depiction of historical constructs in popular culture and Gothic horror in its myriad forms Small Things in the Eighteenth Century Chloe Wigston Smith, Beth Fowkes Tobin, 2022-09-29 Playful useful decorative revolutionary small things possess a rich array of meanings from the ordinary to the extraordinary
