Casares, G. Passerini, G. Perillo, 2018-10-23. Comprising a collection of papers from the 4th International Conference on Environmental and Economic Impact on Sustainable Development, the research studies included in this book consider the impact of economic constraints on the environment, taking into account the social aspects as well as the overuse of natural resources. The papers examine issues related to whether some forms of development are compatible with environmental protection, particularly in cases of possible serious contamination and toxicity. Uncontrolled development can result in damage to the environment in terms of the release of toxic substances and hazardous waste. Addressing problems of great importance, this book examines more constructive and progressive approaches to ensure sustainability. A major motivation is to learn from past failure to avoid repeating similar mistakes while attempting to prevent emerging threats to environmental and ecological systems. Fundamental to these concepts are the analysis of the inherent risk and the development of appropriate strategies.

Dance/Movement Therapy for Infants and Young Children with Medical Illness Suzi Tortora, Miri Keren, 2022-12-30. This book presents dance movement therapy as a window into the emotional and internal experience of a baby with a medical illness within the context of treating the whole family system and using the DC:0-5 as the basis for formulating the clinical situation. This book fills a gap in the literature, bringing a variety of fields together, including infant mental health, infant and child psychiatry, nonverbal movement analysis, and the creative arts therapies. Grounded in a biopsychosocial perspective, dance movement therapy is introduced as the main treatment modality, using nonverbal expression as a means of communication and dance and music activities as intervention tools to support the child and family. Vignettes from both during and years after the medical experience are presented throughout the book, taking into consideration the subtle and more obvious effects of illness on the child's later emotional, social, and behavioral development. They illustrate the expertise of the authors as infant mental health professionals, drawing upon their work in hospitals and private practices and highlighting their unique perspectives and years of collaboration. This exciting new book is essential reading for clinicians and mental health professionals working with infants and their families.

The Art and Science of Dance/Movement Therapy Sharon Chaiklin, Hilda Wengrower, 2009-07-28. The Art and Science of Dance Movement Therapy offers both a broad understanding and an in-depth view of how and where dance therapy can be used to produce change. The chapters go beyond the basics that characterize much of the literature on dance movement therapy, and each of the topics covered offers a theoretical perspective followed by case studies that emphasize the techniques used in the varied settings. Several different theoretical points of view are presented in the chapters, illuminating the different paths through which

A new look at process and outcome Sergio Salvatore, Wolfgang Tschacher, Omar Carlo Gioacchino Gelo, Sabine C Koch, 2016-04-11 In an attempt to cease from reducing the world and its emergent phenomena to linear modeling and analytic dissection Dynamic Systems Theories DST and Embodiment theories and methods aim at accounting for the complex dynamic and non linear phenomena that we constantly deal with in psychology For instance DST and Embodiment can enrich psychology's understanding of the communicative process both in clinical and non clinical settings In psychotherapy an important amount of research has shown that next to other ingredients the therapeutic relationship is the most important active factor contributing to psychotherapy outcome

These findings give communication a central role in the psychotherapy process. In the traditional view the underlying model of understanding psychotherapy processes is that of a number of components summatively coming together enabling us to make a linear causal prediction. Yet communication is inherently dynamic. A shift to viewing the communication process in psychotherapy as a field dynamic phenomenon helps us to take into account nonlinear phenomena such as feedback processes within and between persons. We thus propose an embodied enactive dynamic systems view as a new theoretical and methodological perspective that can more realistically capture what happens among and between two persons in psychotherapy. This view reaches beyond the current narrow model of psychotherapy research. DST and Embodied Enactive Approaches can offer solutions to the loss of non linear phenomena, the complex dynamics of reality and the holistic level of analysis. DST and Embodied Enactive Approaches have developed not in a single discipline but in a joined movement based on various fields such as physics, biology, robotics, anthropology, philosophy, linguistics, neuroscience and psychology and have only recently entered clinical theorizing. The two new paradigms have already triggered a rethinking of the therapeutic exchange by recognizing the embodied nature of psychological and communicative phenomena. Their integration opens up a promising scenario in the field of psychotherapy research, developing new profoundly transdisciplinary theoretical concepts, methodologies and standards of knowledge. The notion of field dynamics enables us to account for the role of the communicational context in the regulation of intra psychological processes while at the same time avoiding the pitfalls of an ontologization of the hierarchy of systemic organization. Moreover, the new approach implements methodological strategies that can transcend the conventional opposition between idiographic and nomothetic sciences.

Proceedings of the 4th International Conference on Culture, Design and Social Development (CDSD 2024) Mohd Fauzi Sedon, Yi Ji, Dedong Zheng, 2025-03-17. This is an open access book. Culture is the spiritual activity and product of human society relative to economy and politics. The traditional concept of human beings believes that culture is a social phenomenon, a product created by human beings for a long time and at the same time a historical phenomenon which is the accumulation of human society and history. The technical, economical and cultural nature of art design determines that only with high social and economic development can art and culture flourish. Art design is the product of the combination of art and technology. Art design is also a kind of productivity which promotes the development of social economy. As a driving factor for social and economic development, design art will also better serve the social economy with its own more perfect operating system. The purpose of CDSD 2024 is to provide an international platform for experts, scholars, engineers and technicians and technical R D personnel engaged in related fields such as culture, design and social development to share scientific research results, broaden research ideas, collide with new ideas and strengthen academic research and to explore the key challenges and research directions faced by the development of this field and promote the industrialization cooperation of academic achievements.
