The North American Journals of Prince Maximilian of Wied Prince Alexander Philipp Maximilian of Wied, 2014-04-09 Few historical chronicles are as informative and eloquent as the journals written by Prince Maximilian of Wied as a record of his journey into the North American interior in 1833-34 following the route Lewis and Clark had taken almost thirty years earlier In this third and final volume Maximilian vividly narrates his extended stay at Fort Clark near today's Bismarck North Dakota and his return journey eastward across America and on to his home in Germany This handsome oversize volume not only reproduces the prince's historic document but also features every one of his illustrations nearly 100 in all including several in color from the original journal along with other watercolors now housed at Joslyn Art Museum in Omaha Nebraska This book is published with the assistance of the National Historical Publications and Records Commission

North American Exploration John Logan Allen, 1997-01-01 The third volume of North American Exploration covering 1784 to 1914 charts a dramatic shift in the purpose priorities and results of the exploration of North America As the nineteenth century opened exploration was still fostered by the growth of empire but by the 1830s commercial interests came to drive most exploratory ventures particularly through the fur trade By midcentury however as imperial rivalries lessened and the fur trade declined exploration was driven by the growing scientific spirit of the age although the science was often conducted in the service of a search for railroad routes or natural resources linked to military concerns A clear transition took place as the spirit of the Enlightenment gave way to economic imperatives and to the science of the post-Darwinian age and exploration passed beyond discovery and geographical definition This volume explores the resultant beginnings of an understanding of the continent and its native peoples
