Pachana, Ken Laidlaw, 2014 The Oxford Handbook of Clinical Geropsychology is a landmark publication in this field providing broad and authoritative coverage of the research and practice issues in the field today as well as innovations expanding the field's horizons. It includes chapters from the foremost scholars in clinical geropsychology from around the world. The Cambridge Handbook of Applied Psychological Ethics Mark M. Leach, Elizabeth Reynolds Welfel, 2018-03-15 The Cambridge Handbook of Applied Psychological Ethics is a valuable resource for psychologists and graduate students hoping to further develop their ethical decision making beyond more introductory ethics texts. The book offers real world ethical vignettes and considerations. Chapters cover a wide range of practice settings, populations, and topics and are written by scholars in these settings. Chapters focus on the application of ethics to the ethical dilemmas in which mental health and other psychology professionals sometimes find themselves. Each chapter introduces a setting and gives readers a brief understanding of some of the potential ethical issues at hand before delving deeper into the multiple ethical issues that must be addressed and the ethical principles and standards involved. No other book on the market captures the breadth of ethical issues found in daily practice and focuses entirely on applied ethics in psychology. Introduction to Clinical Psychology Douglas A. Bernstein, Bethany A. Teachman, Bunmi O. Olatunji, Scott O. Lilienfeld, 2020-10-29 Resource added for the Psychology includes Sociology 108091 courses. Handbook of Parenting Marc H. Bornstein, 2019-03-08 This highly anticipated third edition of the Handbook of Parenting brings together an array of field-leading experts who have worked in different ways toward understanding the many diverse aspects of parenting. Contributors to the Handbook look to the most recent research and thinking to shed light on topics every parent, professional, and policymaker wonders about. Parenting is a perennially hot topic. After all, everyone who has ever lived has been parented, and the vast majority of people become parents themselves. No wonder bookstores, house shelves, how-to parenting books, and magazine racks in pharmacies and airports overflow with periodicals that feature parenting advice. However, almost none of these is evidence-based. The Handbook of Parenting is Period. Each chapter has been written to be read and absorbed in a single sitting and includes historical considerations of the topic, a discussion of central issues and theory, a review of classical and modern research, and forecasts of future directions of theory and research. Together, the five volumes in the Handbook cover Children and Parenting, the Biology and Ecology of Parenting, Being and Becoming a Parent, Social Conditions and Applied Parenting, and the Practice of Parenting. Volume 1: Children and Parenting considers parenthood as a functional status in the life cycle. Parents protect, nurture, and teach their progeny even if human development is more dynamic than can be determined by parental caregiving alone. Volume 1 of the Handbook of Parenting begins with chapters concerned with how children influence parenting. Notable are their more obvious characteristics like child age or developmental stage, but subtler ones like child gender, physical state, temperament, mental ability, and other individual differences. Factors are also instrumental. The chapters in Part I on Parenting across the Lifespan discuss the unique rewards and special demands of parenting children of different ages and stages: infants, toddlers, youngsters in middle childhood, and adolescents, as well as the modern notion of parent-child relationships in emerging adulthood, adulthood, and old age. The chapters in Part II on Parenting Children of Varying Status discuss common issues associated with parenting children of different genders and temperaments as well as unique situations of parenting adopted and foster children and children with a variety of special needs such as those with extreme talent born preterm who are socially withdrawn or aggressive or who fall on the autistic spectrum manifest intellectual disabilities or suffer a chronic health condition
