

The background image shows a complex industrial facility, likely a refinery or chemical plant. In the upper left, two workers in blue uniforms and yellow safety gear are standing on a metal walkway or platform, looking down. The structure is composed of various pipes, metal railings, and large cylindrical tanks. On the right side, there is a prominent green hexagonal overlay that resembles a molecular or crystalline structure, with some internal details and a glowing effect. The overall scene is brightly lit, suggesting an outdoor or well-lit indoor environment.
