Advanced Geosimulation Models Danielle J. Marceau, Itzhak Benenson, 2011 Geosimulation has recently emerged at the intersection of Geographic Information Science Complex Systems Theory and Computer Science Geosimulation aims at understanding the dynamics of complex human driven spatial systems through the use of spatially explicit GeoComputation

Robert J. Abrahart, Linda M. See, 2014-06-23 A revision of Openshaw and Abrahart's seminal work GeoComputation Second Edition retains influences of its originators while also providing updated state of the art information on changes in the computational environment In keeping with the field's development this new edition takes a broader view and provides comprehensive coverage across the Multi-Agent-Based Simulation X Gennaro Di Tosto, H. Van Dyke Parunak, 2010-06-17

This volume contains a selection of the papers presented at the 10th International Workshop on Multi Agent Based Simulation MABS 2009 a workshop co located with the 8th International Conference on Autonomous Agents and Multiagent Systems AAMAS 2009 which was held on May 10-15 2009 in Budapest Hungary Modeling Cities and Regions as

Complex Systems Roger White, Guy Engelen, Inge Uljee, 2024-06-11 The theory and practice of modeling cities and regions as complex self organizing systems presenting widely used cellular automata based models theoretical discussions and applications Cities and regions grow or occasionally decline and continuously transform themselves as they do so This book describes the theory and practice of modeling the spatial dynamics of urban growth and transformation As cities are complex adaptive self organizing systems the most appropriate modeling framework is one based on the theory of self organizing systems an approach already used in such fields as physics and ecology The book presents a series of models most of them developed using cellular automata CA which are inherently spatial and computationally efficient It also provides discussions of the theoretical methodological and philosophical issues that arise from the models A case study illustrates the use of these models in urban and regional planning Finally the book presents a new dynamic theory of urban spatial structure that emerges from the models and their applications The models are primarily land use models but the more advanced ones also show the dynamics of population and economic activities and are integrated with models in other domains such as economics demography and transportation The result is a rich and realistic representation of the spatial dynamics of a variety of urban phenomena The book is unique in its coverage of both the general issues associated with complex self organizing systems and the specifics of designing and implementing models of such systems Agent-Based Modelling and Geographical Information Systems

Andrew Crooks, Nicolas Malleon, Ed Manley, Alison Heppenstall, 2018-12-13 This is the era of Big Data and computational social science It is an era that requires tools which can do more than visualise data but also model the complex relation between data and human action and interaction Agent Based Models ABM computational models which simulate human action and interaction do just that This textbook explains how to design and build ABM and how to link the models to Geographical Information Systems It guides you from the basics through to constructing more complex models which work with data and human behaviour in a spatial context All of the fundamental concepts are explained and related to practical examples to facilitate learning with models developed in NetLogo with all code examples available on the accompanying website You will be able to use these models to develop your own applications and link where appropriate to Geographical Information Systems All of the key ideas and methods are explained in detail geographical modelling an introduction to ABM the fundamentals of Geographical Information Science why ABM and GIS using QGIS designing and building an ABM calibration and validation modelling human behavior An applied primer that provides fundamental knowledge and practical skills it will provide you with the skills to build and run your own models and to begin your own research projects AGILE 2003 Michael Gould,Robert Laurini,Stéphane Coulondre,2003-01-01 The Oxford

Handbook of Historical Ecology and Applied Archaeology Christian Isendahl,Daryl Stump,2019-01-10 The Oxford Handbook of Historical Ecology and Applied Archaeology presents theoretical discussions methodological outlines and case studies describing the field of overlap between historical ecology and the emerging sub discipline of applied archaeology to highlight how modern environments and landscapes have been shaped by humans Historical ecology is based on the recognition that humans are not only capable of modifying their environments but that all environments on earth have already been directly or indirectly modified This includes anthropogenic climate change widespread deforestations and species extinctions but also very local alterations the effects of which may last a few years or may have legacies lasting centuries or more With contributions from anthropologists archaeologists human geographers and historians this volume focuses not just on defining human impacts in the past but on the ways that understanding these changes can help inform contemporary practices and development policies Some chapters present examples of how ancient or current societies have modified their environments in sustainable ways while others highlight practices that had unintended long term consequences The possibilities of learning from these practices are discussed as is the potential of using the long history of human resource exploitation as a method for building or testing models of future change The volume offers overviews for students researchers and professionals with an interest in conservation or development projects who want to understand what practical insights can be drawn from history and who seek to apply their work to contemporary issues Dynamic

Planning Beniamino Murgante,Giuseppe Borruso,Alessandra Lapucci,2009-02-26 Sixteen years ago Franklin estimated that about 80% of data contain geo referenced information To date the availability of geographic data and information is growing

together with the capacity of users to operate with IT tools and instruments Spatial data infrastructures are growing and allow a wide number of users to rely on them This growth has not been fully coupled to an increase of knowledge to support spatial decisions Spatial analytical techniques geographical analysis and modelling methods are therefore required to analyse data and to facilitate the decision process at all levels Old geographical issues can find an answer thanks to new methods and instruments while new issues are developing challenging researchers towards new solutions This volume aims to contribute to the development of new techniques and methods to improve the process of knowledge acquisition The Geocomputational expression is related to the development and the application of new theories methods and tools in order to provide better solutions to complex geographical problems The geocomputational analysis discussed in this volume could be classified according to three main domains of applications the first one related to spatial decision support system and to spatial uncertainty the second connected to artificial intelligence the third based on all spatial statistics techniques International Encyclopedia of Human Geography ,2019-11-29 International Encyclopedia of Human Geography Second Edition Fourteen Volume Set embraces diversity by design and captures the ways in which humans share places and view differences based on gender race nationality location and other factors in other words the things that make people and places different Questions of for example politics economics race relations and migration are introduced and discussed through a geographical lens This updated edition will assist readers in their research by providing factual information historical perspectives theoretical approaches reviews of literature and provocative topical discussions that will stimulate creative thinking Presents the most up to date and comprehensive coverage on the topic of human geography Contains extensive scope and depth of coverage Emphasizes how geographers interact with understand and contribute to problem solving in the contemporary world Places an emphasis on how geography is relevant in a social and interdisciplinary context
