A Queer Eye For Capitalism The Commodification Of Sexuality In Us Television:

A Queer Eye for Capitalism Yarma Velázquez Vargas, 2010-06-09 This study uses critical discourse analysis to conduct an examination of the reality television program Queer Eye. The goal is to help understand the manner in which the representations of queer culture in the show reinforce the binaries of sex gender and sexuality. By investigating the evolution of Queer Eye, this study provides insights into American popular culture's understanding and depiction of sexual difference and evidences the strong link between these representations and the commercial interests of the producers. In the show Queer Eye, the male guests sell access to their lives for a makeover and in the process they are indoctrinated into new patterns of consumption. The identity of both the five main characters and the guest character is represented as a reflection of their aesthetic choices and audiences are exposed to numerous product placements and advertising messages. In encouraging materialism, the show transforms the term queer into a commodity sign and redefines masculinity as represented through wealth and accumulation. Moreover, consistent with the stereotypical representation of gay males in American culture, the queerness of the Fab is depicted as asexual and a form of aestheticism. Branded Women in U.S. Television Peter Bjelskou, 2014-12-18 Branded Women in U S Television examines how The Real Housewives of New York City, Martha Stewart and other female entrepreneurs create branded televised versions of the iconic U S housewife. Using their television presence to establish and promote their own product lines including jewelry, cookware, clothing and skincare, they become the primary physical representations of these brands. While their businesses are serious and seriously lucrative, especially reality television enables a certain representational flexibility that allows participants to create campy and sometimes tongue-in-cheek personas. Peter Bjelskou explores their innovative branding strategies, specifically the complex relationships between their entrepreneurial endeavors and their physical bodies, tastes and personal histories. Generally, these branded women speak volumes about their contemporaneous political environments and this book illustrates how they and many other women in U S television history are indicative of larger societal trends and structures. Ethics Under Capital Jason Hannan, 2019-11-14 We in the West are living in the midst of a deadly culture war. Our rival worldviews clash with increasing violence in the public arena, culminating in deadly riots and mass shootings. A fragmented left now confronts a resurgent and reactionary right which threatens to reverse decades of social progress. Commentators have declared that we live in a post truth world, one dominated by online trolls and conspiracy theorists. How did we arrive at this cultural crisis? How do we respond? This book speaks to this critical moment through a new reading of the thought of Alasdair MacIntyre. Over thirty years ago, MacIntyre predicted the coming of a new Dark Ages. The premise of this book is that MacIntyre was right all along. It presents his diagnosis of our cultural crisis. It further presents his answer to the challenge of public reasoning without foundations. Pitting him against John Rawls, Jürgen Habermas and Chantal Mouffe, Ethics Under Capital argues that MacIntyre offers hope for a critical democratic politics in the face of the culture wars. What's Queer about Europe? Mireille Rosello, Sudeep Dasgupta, 2014-02-03 What's Queer about Europe examines how queer theory helps us initiate disorienting conjunctions and counterintuitive encounters for imagining historical and contemporary Europe. This book queers Europe and Europeanizes queer, forcing a reconsideration of both. Its contributors study Europe relationally, asking not so much what Europe is but what we do when we attempt to define it. The topics discussed include gay marriage in Renaissance Rome, Russian anarchism and gender politics in early twentieth-century Switzerland, colonialism and sexuality in Italy, queer masculinities in European popular culture, queer national identities in French cinema, and gender theories and activism. What these apparently disparate topics have in common is the urgency of the political, legal, and cultural issues they tackle. Asking what is queer about Europe means probing the blind spots that continue to structure the long and discrepant process of Europeanization. Transnational Cinematic and Popular Music Icons Aaron Lefkowitz, 2017-09-08

Transnational Cinematic and Queen Latifah's transnational popular cultural struggles between domination and autonomy with a particular emphasis on their films and popular music. Linking each performer to twentieth-century U.S. African American and global gender histories and noting the intersections of race, gender, sexuality, class, and empire in their overlapping transnational biographies. Transnational Cinematic Popular Music Icons Lena Horne, Dorothy Dandridge, Queen Latifah, 1917-2017 connects Horne, Dandridge, and Latifah to each other and legacies of Hollywood stereotypes and popular music's internationally routed politics. Through a close reading of Horne's, Dandridge's, and Latifah's films and popular music, the performers tie to historic black transnational caricatures from the tragic mulatto to Sapphire, Mammy, and Jezebel, and additional non-white female performers from Josephine Baker to Halle Berry, maneuvering within transnational popular culture, industrial matrices, and against white supremacist and hetero-patriarchal forces. New Books on Women, Gender and Feminism, 2013 New Books on Women and Feminism, 2013 Chinese Male Homosexualities Travis Kong, 2010-07-13 This book presents a groundbreaking exploration of masculinities and homosexualities amongst Chinese gay men. It provides a sociological account of masculinity, desire, sexuality, identity, and citizenship in contemporary Chinese societies and within the constellation of global culture. Kong reports the results of an extensive ethnographic study of contemporary Chinese gay men in a wide range of different locations, including mainland China, Hong Kong, and the Chinese overseas community in London, showing how Chinese gay men live their everyday lives. Relating Chinese male homosexuality to the extensive social and cultural theories on gender, sexuality, and the body, postcolonialism, and globalisation, the book examines the idea of queer space and numerous queer flows of capital, bodies, ideas, images, and commodities around the world. The book concludes that different gay male identities, such as the conspicuously consuming memba in Hong Kong, the urban tongzhi, the money boy in China, and the feminised golden boy in London, emerge in different locations and are all caught up in the transnational flow of queer cultures, which are at once local and global. The ^AOxford Handbook of Queer Cinema Ronald Gregg, Amy Villarejo, 2021-11-12 The Oxford Handbook of Queer Cinema encompasses more than a century of filmmaking film criticism and film reception looking at the ways in which the idea of queer cinema has expanded as a descriptor for a global arts practice We Can Do Better Linda Steiner, Stine Eckert, 2025-04-15 Feminist Manifestos for Media and Communication brings together evidence based manifestos for media and communication that take a feminist perspective and add up to a provocative vision of feminist media practices and of feminist communication The book discusses critical problems and complaints in ways that identify and make the case for actionable concrete solutions to media problems and deficiencies it shows how feminist thinking can be usefully and effectively applied to a wide range of journalism media and communication practices The manifestos are not only about women but rather offer specific feasible blueprints for restructuring media in ways that make them fairer and more equitable along many vectors of identity so that media can better serve democracy These manifestos give concrete solutions to specific problems that can and should be implemented by journalists media practitioners students faculty and scholars The manifestos are organized around three sets of demands for better media practices for more participatory online spaces and for more precise and appropriate language
