A Rhetoric Of Argument Text And Reader:

A Rhetoric of Argument Jeanne Fahnestock, Marie Secor, 2004 The stasis approach pioneered by Fahnestock and Secor distinguishes among four basic questions that arguments are written to answer What is it Definition arguments How did it get that way Causal arguments Is it good or bad Evaluation arguments What should we do about it Proposal arguments These four questions now standard in many argument texts give students a constructive engaging way to analyze arguments by other writers and to construct their own arguments GoogleBooks Reading Argumentative Texts James E. Scheuermann, 2021-10-31 This book is an introduction to acquiring and mastering tools you can use to better understand the meaning of nonfiction argumentative texts These texts include editorials in newspapers magazines and internet websites articles essays and books in various academic fields history philosophy political science psychology sociology and printed speeches sermons and lectures Virtualpolitik Elizabeth Mathews Losh, 2009 Government media making from official websites to whistleblowers e mail and its sometimes unintended consequences Today government agencies not only have official Web sites but also sponsor moderated chats blogs digital video clips online tutorials videogames and virtual tours of national landmarks Sophisticated online marketing campaigns target citizens with messages from the government even as officials make news with digital gaffes involving embarrassing e mails instant messages and videos In Virtualpolitik Elizabeth Losh closely examines the government's digital rhetoric in such cases and its dual role as mediamaker and regulator Looking beyond the usual focus on interfaces operations and procedures Losh analyzes the ideologies revealed in government's digital discourse its anxieties about new online practices and what happens when officially sanctioned material is parodied remixed or recontextualized by users Losh reports on a video game that panicked the House Intelligence Committee pedagogic and therapeutic digital products aimed at American soldiers government Web sites in the weeks and months following 9 11 PowerPoint presentations by government officials and gadflies e mail as a channel for whistleblowing digital satire of surveillance practices national digital libraries and computer based training for health professionals Losh concludes that the government's virtualpolitik its digital realpolitik aimed at preserving its own power is focused on regulation casting as criminal such common online activities as file sharing video game play and social networking This policy approach she warns indefinitely postpones building effective institutions for electronic governance ignores constituents need to shape electronic identities to suit their personal politics and misses an opportunity to learn how citizens can have meaningful interaction with the virtual manifestations of the state Rhetoric's Questions, Reading and Interpretation Peter Mack, 2017-08-20 This book aims to help readers interpret and reflect on their reading more effectively It presents doctrines of ancient and renaissance rhetoric an education in how to write well as questions or categories for interpreting one's reading The first chapter presents the questions Later chapters use rhetorical theory to bring out the implications of and suggest possible answers to the questions about occasion and audience chapter 2 structure and disposition 3 narrative 4 argument 5 further elements of content such as descriptions comparisons proverbs and moral axioms dialogue and examples 6 and style 7 Chapter eight describes ways of gathering material formulating arguments and writing about the texts one reads The conclusion considers the wider implications of taking a rhetorical approach to reading The investigation of rhetoric's questions is interspersed with analyses of texts by Chaucer Sidney Shakespeare Fielding and Rushdie using the questions The text is intended for university students of literature especially English literature and rhetoric and their teachers

Rhetorical Argumentation in Biblical Texts Anders Eriksson, Thomas H. Olbricht, Walter Übelacker, 2002-06-01 In the latest volume in the Emory Studies in Early Christianity series the contributors seek a better understanding of how various biblical authors present their arguments support their claims and attempt to persuade their readers A century ago the rhetorical analysis of texts focused on the study of rhetorical figures in texts elocutio In the mid twentieth century scholars such as James Muilenburg Hans Dieter Betz and Wilhelm Wuellner introduced biblical scholars to the illustrious tradition of rhetorical study These scholars tended to focus on the arrangement of the texts themselves dispositio During the last ten years however interpreters have increasingly studied the rhetorical argumentation in texts The authors in this volume examine rhetorical argumentation in the Hebrew Bible the Gospels the Pauline letters and the Book of Revelation offering striking new readings of these materials Contributors include J David Hester Amador Center for Rhetoric and Hermeneutics R Dean Anderson Valkenburg The Netherlands Harold W Attridge Yale Divinity School L Gregory Bloomquist St Paul University Ottawa Michael R Cosby Messiah College Rodney K Duke Appalachian State University Frans H van Eemeren University of Amsterdam Anders Eriksson Lund University Alan J Hauser Appalachian State University Roy R Jeal William and Catherine Booth College Manfred Kraus Eberhard Karls Universität Tübingen John W Marshall University of Toronto Roland Meynet Pontificia Università Gregoriana Thomas H Olbricht Emeritus Pepperdine University Carol Poster Florida State University Rollin A Ramsaran Emmanuel School of Religion Vernon K Robbins Emory University and University of Stellenbosch Russell B Sisson Union College Jerry L Sumney Lexington Theological Seminary C Jan Swearingen Texas A Lauri Thur n Univeristy of Joensuu Johan S Vos Vrije Universiteit and Duane F Watson Malone College Science as Writing David Millard Locke, 1992-01-01 It has been assumed that a gulf existed between science and the humanities and that the writings of scientists had no literary features Locke argues that scientific language can be imaginative and expressive and shows how modes of literary criticism can be keys to the reading of scientific texts Sociocultural Studies in Education Richard A Quantz, 2016-01-08 Sociocultural Studies in Education Critical Thinking for Democracy fills a void in the education of educators and citizens in a democracy It explores some of the fundamentals around which disagreements in education arise It presents a process with which those new to these debates can understand often confusing and entwined sets of facts and logics This book leads the reader through some general concepts and intellectual skills that provide the basis for making sense out of the debates around public education in a democracy This book can be seen as a primer on how to read texts about education It acknowledges that good teachers must be not only trained to teach but also educated about education It presents the various themes and currents found within the arguments and narratives that people use to represent public education It assumes that the more those interested in education know about how to see through the rhetoric the better they will be at discerning whose interests are served by which texts From Pulpit to Fiction Allen Permar Smith,2007 This book examines the authority and power of a sermonic text through its ctive qualities The author argues that a sermonic text functions in the manner of a work of ction and creates an event and space that forces a decision upon the reader The text creates a place where the Kingdom of God is about to happen and is happening Consequently the reader is forced to make a decision Will he or she go and do likewise or reject the Kingdom of God In this way a sermonic text acts like a work of ction and invites a reader into its space and event If the reader of the sermonic text chooses temporally to enter the event of the text the reader has the potential to participate in its dynamics and is forced to make a decision either to believe or not believe Like a work of ction it does not require those external guarantees of authority that are found in the community of faith its doctrines creeds and ecclesiology Rather the authority of the sermonic text is intrinsic as in a work of fiction and stands on its own The discussion is interdisciplinary drawing upon literary theory cultural theory and theology
