Animal Bones Australian Archaeology Australasian:

Animal bones in Australian archaeology Melanie Fillios, Natalie Blake, 2015-12-02 Zooarchaeology has emerged as a powerful way of reconstructing the lives of past societies Through the analysis of animal bones found on a site zooarchaeologists can uncover important information on the economy trade industry diet and other fascinating facts about the people who lived there Animal bones in Australian archaeology is an introductory bone identification manual written for archaeologists working in Australia This field guide includes 16 species commonly encountered in both Indigenous and historical sites Using diagrams and flow charts it walks the reader step by step through the bone identification process Combining practical and academic knowledge the manual also provides an introductory insight into zooarchaeological methodology and the importance of zooarchaeological research in understanding human behaviour through time An

Archaeology of Australia Since 1788 Susan Lawrence, Peter Davies, 2010-10-21 This volume provides an important new synthesis of archaeological work carried out in Australia on the post contact period It draws on dozens of case studies from a wide geographical and temporal span to explore the daily life of Australians in settings such as convict stations goldfields whalers camps farms pastoral estates and urban neighbourhoods The different conditions experienced by various groups of people are described in detail including rich and poor convicts and their superiors Aboriginal people women children and migrant groups The social themes of gender class ethnicity status and identity inform every chapter demonstrating that these are vital parts of human experience and cannot be separated from archaeologies of industry urbanization and culture contact The book engages with a wide range of contemporary discussions and debates within Australian history and the international discipline of historical archaeology The colonization of Australia was part of the international expansion of European hegemony in the eighteenth and nineteenth century The material discussed here is thus fundamentally part of the global processes of colonization and the creation of settler societies the industrial revolution the development of mass consumer culture and the emergence of national identities Drawing out these themes and integrating them with the analysis of archaeological materials highlights the vital relevance of archaeology in modern society Between the Murray and the Sea David Frankel, 2017-12-05 Between the Murray and the Sea Aboriginal Archaeology in South eastern Australia explores the Indigenous archaeology of Victoria focusing on areas south and east of the Murray River Looking at multiple sites from the region David Frankel considers what the archaeological evidence reveals about Indigenous society migration and hunting techniques He looks at how an understanding of the changing environment combined with information drawn from 19th century ethnohistory can inform our interpretation of the archaeological record In the process he investigates the nature of archaeological evidence and explanation and proposes approaches for future research A carefully crafted and impressively illustrated depiction of the economic and social lives of past Aboriginal peoples who lived in the diverse landscapes that existed between the Murray and the sea This book will be valuable to both specialists and non specialists alike as it provides a foundation for thinking about the remarkable variety of ways Aboriginal foragers adapted to the lands of southeastern Australia Peter Hiscock Tom Austen Brown Professor of Australian Archaeology University of Sydney Photogrammetry for Archaeological Objects Madeline G.P. Robinson,2024-08-01 Photogrammetry is the process of obtaining digital three dimensional models of objects features or landscapes from a series of overlapping focused and well exposed two dimensional photographs Photogrammetry is becoming standard practice for archaeological analysis especially since a digital camera now features consistently in an archaeologist s tool kit An archaeological career however does not traditionally involve becoming an expert in photography Photogrammetry for Archaeological Objects A Manual explains in simple easy to follow steps all the essential elements of photography how to design a controlled photography setup how to shoot in an uncontrolled environment and how to edit your images so you can develop your proficiency in photography and by extension photogrammetry This guide will provide you with a comprehensive introduction to the process of setting up your camera for photogrammetry shooting the necessary camera positions required to completely capture your artefacts and how to use these images captured to process and edit your photogrammetry models With the aid of 11 different case studies of a variety of archaeological objects you can develop your understanding of how to approach different archaeological material for modelling purposes what camera gear and shooting environment is the most suitable and what camera angles are suitable to correctly capture your object Photogrammetry for Archaeological Objects is your go to guide for building successful and usable 3D photogrammetry models of archaeological material that can be used for analysis conservation and educational purposes

Crafting Country Caroline Bird,James W. Rhoads,2020-04-01 Based on ten years of surveys and excavations in Nyiyaparli country in the eastern Chichester Ranges north west Australia Crafting Country provides a unique synthesis of Holocene archaeology in the Pilbara region The analysis of about 1000 sites including surface artefact scatters and 19 excavated rock shelters as well as thousands of isolated artefacts takes a broad view of the landscape examining the distribution of archaeological remains in time and space Heritage compliance archaeology commonly focuses on individual sites but this study reconsiders the evidence at different scales at the level of artefact site locality and region to show how Aboriginal people interacted with the land and made their mark on it Crafting Country shows that the Nyiyaparli crafted their country building structures and supplying key sites with grindstones raw material and flaked stone cores In so doing they created a taskscape of interwoven activities linked by paths of movement
