Animal Feeding And Food Safety Fao Food And Nutrition Papers:

Perspectives and Guidelines on Food Legislation Jessica Vapnek, Melvin Spreij, 2005-01-01 The increasing globalization of food trade and the harmonization of food standards and food safety rules have led to significant changes in the international and national regulatory frameworks for food There is an increasing recognition of the need to integrate and improve coordination of regulatory activities among national and international bodies for better protection of human animal and plant life and health without creating unnecessary barriers to trade In addition catastrophic outbreaks of food borne disease have sparked increasing attention to the regulatory frameworks for food safety and food trade in the global arena These developments have given rise to new legislative needs National regulatory frameworks have to be adjusted to meet international and regional obligations while the distribution of responsibilities for the food sector requires rigorous review The present text draws on FAO s experience in providing technical assistance to governments developing new food laws and regulations setting out and examining the many elements of the national system which should be taken into account in a comprehensive review of national regulatory frameworks for food Towards that end the text offers concrete recommendations for the preparation of a basic national food law including three variants of a new model food law

Animal Feed Contamination J Fink-Gremmels, 2012-06-11 The production of animal feed increasingly relies on the global acquisition of feed material increasing the risk of chemical and microbiological contaminants being transferred into food producing animals Animal feed contamination provides a comprehensive overview of recent research into animal feed contaminants and their negative effects on both animal and human health Part one focuses on the contamination of feeds and fodder by microorganisms and animal by products Analysis of contamination by persistent organic pollutants and toxic metals follows in part two before the problem of natural toxins is considered in part three Veterinary medicinal products as contaminants are explored in part four along with a discussion of the use of antimicrobials in animal feed Part five goes on to highlight the risk from emerging technologies Finally part six explores feed safety and quality management by considering the safe supply and management of animal feed the process of sampling for contaminant analysis and the GMP feed safety assurance scheme With its distinguished editor and international team of expert contributors Animal feed contamination is an indispensable reference work for all those responsible for food safety control in the food and feed industries as well as a key source for researchers in this area Provides a comprehensive review of research into animal feed contaminants and their negative effects on both animal and human health Examines the contamination of feeds and fodder by microorganisms and animal by products Analyses contamination by persistent organic pollutants toxic metals and natural toxins Novel Food and Feed Safety Safety Assessment of Foods and Feeds Derived from Transgenic Crops, Volume 1 OECD, 2015-04-03 These science based consensus documents contain information for use during the regulatory assessment of food feed products of modern biotechnology i e developed from transgenic crops Safe and Wholesome Food Grímur Valdimarsson, 2005
