The Spirit of Design Stuart Walker, 2021-12-24 Imaginative design will be a crucial factor in enacting sustainability in people's daily lives Yet current design practice is trapped in consumerist cycles of innovation and production making it difficult to imagine how we might develop a more meaningful and sustainable rendition of material culture Through fundamental design research The Spirit of Design challenges a host of common assumptions about sustainability progress growth and globalization Walker's practice based explorations of localisation human meaning and functional objects demonstrate the imaginative potential of research through design and yield a compelling constructive and essentially hopeful direction for the future one that radically reimagines our material culture by meshing mass production with individuality products with place and utilitarian benefit with environmental responsibility In so doing the author explores How understandings of human meaning affect design and how design can better incorporate issues of personal meaning How mass production needs to become integrated with localised production and service provision How short lived electronic goods can be brought into a more sustainable design paradigm The changing role of the designer in a post consumerist world Taking a design centred approach a combination of creative propositional design practice reasoned argument and theoretical discussion the book will impel readers to investigate the nature of contemporary material culture and its relationship to both the natural environment and to deeper notions of human meaning

Time Joel Burges, Amy Elias, 2016-08-02 The critical condition and historical motivation behind Time Studies The concept of time in the post millennial age is undergoing a radical rethinking within the humanities Time A Vocabulary of the Present newly theorizes our experiences of time in relation to developments in post 1945 cultural theory and arts practices Wide ranging and theoretically provocative the volume introduces readers to cutting edge temporal conceptualizations and investigates what exactly constitutes the scope of time studies Featuring twenty essays that reveal what we talk about when we talk about time today especially in the areas of history measurement and culture each essay pairs two keywords to explore the tension and nuances between them from past future and anticipation unexpected to extinction adaptation and serial simultaneous Moving beyond the truisms of postmodernism the collection newly theorizes the meanings of temporality in relationship to aesthetic cultural technological and economic developments in the postwar period This book thus assumes that time not space as the postmoderns had it is central to the contemporary period and that through it we can come to terms with what contemporaneity can be for human beings caught up in the historical present In the end Time reveals that the present is a cultural matrix in which overlapping temporalities condition and compete for our attention Thus each pair of terms presents two temporalities yielding a generative account of the time or times in which we live
