Knowledge for a Sustainable World Tor Halvorsen, Hilde Ibsen, 2015-12-07 The search for answers to the issue of global sustainability has become increasingly urgent In the context of higher education many universities and academics are seeking new insights that can shift our dependence on ways of living that rely on the exploitation of so many and the degradation of so much of our planet This is the vision that drives SANORD and many of the researchers and institutions within its network Although much of the research is on a relatively small scale the vision is steadily gaining momentum forging dynamic collaborations and pathways to new knowledge The contributors to this book cover a variety of subject areas and offer fresh insights about chronically under researched parts of the world Others document and critically reflect on innovative approaches to cross continental teaching and research collaborations This book will be of interest to anyone involved in the transformation of higher education or the practicalities of cross continental and cross disciplinary academic collaboration The Southern African Nordic Centre SANORD is a network of higher education institutions from Denmark Finland Iceland Norway Sweden Botswana Namibia Malawi South Africa Zambia and Zimbabwe Universities in the southern African and Nordic regions that are not yet members are encouraged to join

African Cinema in a Global Age Kenneth W. Harrow, 2023-09-19 This book traces the developments in African films that were made from the 1990s to the present within the evolving frame of what came to be called World Cinema and eventually Global Cinema Kenneth W Harrow explores how from the time video and then digital technologies were introduced in the 1990s and then again when streaming platforms assumed major roles in producing and distributing film between the 2010s and 2020s African cinema underwent enormous changes He highlights how the introduction of the continent's first successful commercial cinema Nollywood shifted the focus from engag films with social or political messages to entertainment movies but also auteur cinema Harrow explores how this transformation liberated African filmmakers and resulted in an incredible enduring flow of creative inventive and thoughtful filmmaking This book presents a number of those critical films that mark that trajectory projecting a new sense of African film spaces and temporalities while also highlighting how African films continue to find independent pathways This book will be of interest to students and scholars of African cinema and world cinema as well as researchers specifically examining African cinemas and their relationship to globalization

Unmaking Migrants Stacey Vanderhurst, 2022-06-15 Unmaking Migrants engages critical questions about preventing trafficking by preventing migration through a study of a shelter for trafficking victims in Lagos Nigeria Over the past fifteen years antitrafficking personnel have stopped thousands of women from traveling out of Nigeria and instead sent them to the federal counter trafficking agency for investigation protection and rehabilitation Government officials defend this form of intervention as preemptive having intercepted the women before any abuses take place Yet many of the women protest their detention insist they were not being trafficked and demand to be released As Stacey Vanderhurst argues migration can be a freely made choice Unmaking

Migrants shows the moments leading up to the migration choice and it shows how well intentioned efforts to help women considering these paths often don't address their real needs at all Urban Nature Michelle L. Cocks, Charlie M.

Shackleton, 2020-11-15 This book showcases the diversity of ways in which urban residents from varying cultural contexts view, interact, engage with, and give meaning to urban nature, aiming to counterbalance the dominance of Western depictions and values of urban nature and design. Urban nature has up to now largely been defined, planned, and managed in a way that is heavily dominated by Western understandings, values, and appreciations, which has spread through colonialism and globalisation. As cities increasingly represent a diversity of cultures and urban nature is being increasingly recognised as contributing to residents' wellbeing, belonging, and overall quality of life, it is important to consider the numerous ways in which urban nature is understood and appreciated. This collection of case studies includes examples from Africa, Asia, Europe, North, and South America and reflects on the multi-dimensional aspects of engagements with urban nature through a biocultural diversity lens. The chapters cover several themes, such as how engagements with nature contribute to a sense of wellbeing and belonging, the implications that diversity has on the provision, design, and management of urban environments, and the threats inhibiting residents' abilities to engage meaningfully with nature. The book challenges the dominant discourse, Western ideological understandings, and meta-narratives of modernisation and unilineal urban transitions. A timely addition to the literature, Urban Nature: Enriching Belonging, Wellbeing, and Bioculture offers an alternative to Western ideological understandings of nature and values and will be of great interest to those working in human and environmental urban ecology. It will also be key reading for students in the relevant fields of anthropology, development studies, geography, social ecology, and urban studies.

A Companion to African Cinema Kenneth W. Harrow, Carmela Garritano, 2018-09-18 An authoritative guide to African cinema with contributions from a team of experts on the topic. A Companion to African Cinema offers an overview of critical approaches to African cinema. With contributions from an international panel of experts, the Companion approaches the topic through the lens of cultural studies, contemporary transformations in the world order, the rise of globalization, film production, distribution, and exhibition. This volume represents a new approach to African cinema criticism that once stressed the sociological and sociopolitical aspects of a film. The text explores a wide range of broad topics, including cinematic economics, video movies, life in cinematic urban Africa, reframing human rights, as well as more targeted topics such as the linguistic domestication of Indian films in the Hausa language and the importance of female African filmmakers and their successes in overcoming limitations caused by gender inequality. The book also highlights a comparative perspective of African videoscapes of Southern Nigeria, Ethiopia, and Côte d'Ivoire and explores the rise of Nairobi-based Female Filmmakers. This important resource puts the focus on critical analyses that take into account manifestations of the political changes brought by neocolonialism and the waning of the cold war. Explores/Examines the urgent questions raised by commercial video about globalization. Addresses issues such as funding, the acquisition of adequate production technologies and apparatuses and the development of adequately trained actors Written for film students and scholars A Companion to African Cinema offers a look at new critical approaches to African cinema The Laziness Myth Christine Jeske, 2020-12-15 When people cannot find good work can they still find good lives By investigating this question in the context of South Africa where only 43 percent of adults are employed Christine Jeske invites readers to examine their own assumptions about how work and the good life do or do not coincide The Laziness Myth challenges the widespread premise that hard work determines success by tracing the titular laziness myth a persistent narrative that disguises the systems and structures that produce inequalities while blaming unemployment and other social ills on the so called laziness of particular class racial and ethnic groups Jeske offers evidence of the laziness myth s harsh consequences as well as insights into how to challenge it with other South African narratives of a good life In contexts as diverse as rapping in a library manufacturing leather shoes weed whacking neighbors yards negotiating marriage plans and sharing water taps the people described in this book will stimulate discussion on creative possibilities for seeking the good life in and out of employment in South Africa and elsewhere Entrepreneurship in Africa Moses E. Ochonu, 2018-02-05 A tapestry of innovation ideas and commerce Africa and its entrepreneurial hubs are deeply connected to those of the past Moses E Ochonu and an international group of contributors explores the lived experiences of African innovators who have created value for themselves and their communities Profiles of vendors farmers craftspeople healers spiritual consultants warriors musicians technological innovators political mobilizers and laborers featured in this volume show African models of entrepreneurship in action As a whole the essays consider the history of entrepreneurship in Africa illustrating its multiple origins and showing how it differs from the Western capitalist experience As they establish historical patterns of business creativity these explorations open new avenues for understanding indigenous enterprise and homegrown commerce and their relationship to social economic and political debates in Africa today Children's Rights and Business Gamze Erdem Türkelli, 2020-02-13 A comprehensive legal inquiry into children s rights and business drawing on insights from various disciplines enriched by in depth case studies The Oxford Handbook of Vowel Harmony Nancy A. Ritter, Harry van der Hulst, 2024-10-17 This handbook provides a detailed account of the phenomenon of vowel harmony a pattern according to which all vowels within a word must agree for some phonological property or properties Vowel harmony has been central in the development of phonological theories thanks to its cluster of remarkable properties notably its typically unbounded character and its non locality and because it forms part of the phonology of most world languages The five parts of this volume cover all aspects of vowel harmony from a range of theoretical and methodological perspectives Part I outlines the types of vowel harmony and some unusual cases before Part II explores structural issues such as vowel inventories the interaction of vowel harmony and morphological structure and locality The chapters in Part III provide an overview of the various theoretical accounts of the phenomenon as well as bringing in insights from language acquisition and psycholinguistics while Part IV focuses on the historical life cycle of vowel harmony looking at topics such as phonetic factors and the effect of language contact The final part contains 31 chapters that present data and analysis of vowel harmony across all major language families as well as several isolates constituting the broadest coverage of the phenomenon to date Vulnerability and the Politics of Care
