White, Venkat R. Subramanian, 2010-02-06 This book presents Maple solutions to a wide range of problems relevant to chemical engineers and others Many of these solutions use Maple's symbolic capability to help bridge the gap between analytical and numerical solutions The readers are strongly encouraged to refer to the references included in the book for a better understanding of the physics involved and for the mathematical analysis This book was written for a senior undergraduate or a first year graduate student course in chemical engineering Most of the examples in this book were done in Maple 10 However the codes should run in the most recent version of Maple We strongly encourage the readers to use the classic worksheet mws option in Maple as we believe it is more user friendly and robust In chapter one you will find an introduction to Maple which includes simple basics as a convenience for the reader such as plotting solving linear and nonlinear equations Laplace transformations matrix operations do loop and while loop Chapter two presents linear ordinary differential equations in section 1 to include homogeneous and nonhomogeneous ODEs solving systems of ODEs using the matrix exponential and Laplace transform method In section two of chapter two nonlinear ordinary differential equations are presented and include simultaneous series reactions solving nonlinear ODEs with Maple's dsolve command stop conditions differential algebraic equations and steady state solutions Chapter three addresses boundary value problems Solutions Manual to Accompany Process Modeling, Simulation and Control for Chemical Engineers William L. regard to new materials and efficient methods of production due to increasing costs of energy stringent environmental regulations and global competition A clear understanding of the processes is required in order to solve these problems One way is through crisp modeling method another is through an optimal operation of the process to improve profitability and efficiency The book is in two parts The first part discusses the methods of modeling chemical engineering processes through well known mathematical methods involving numerical calculations This includes the recent concepts of Fuzzy logic and neural nets The second part describes the efficient optimization methods which are available for the effective application in many chemical processes This involves methods of search for extrema as well as optimization with and without constraint relations Most books on nonlinear programming are of theoretical type and the exact procedures of computation are often obscure But in this book a number of problems have been worked out In addition to this computer programs are included for almost all the topics Due to the intricacy of optimization programs the flow charts and the program in clear BASIC language have been provided so that the reader can understand the mathematical methods The book will be useful for students and practising engineers in the field of chemical engineering biotechnology environmental engineering and applied mathematics
