Notes to Assist in Differentiating Problems and Patterns Few scores on tactile perception and grade are present. There less issues in this area are more likely part of a broader somatodypraxia pattern vs. vestibular bilateral integration. Signs of poor proprioception frequently accompany both vestibular bilateral integration problems and somatodypraxia. Somatodypraxia may include problems in vestibular processing and/or lateral integration and/or visual dyspraxia. Signs of both somatodypraxia and visuodyspraxia may be present, poor visuopraic scores without poor visual perception may be part of somatodypraxia pattern.						Problems with regulating sensory responses may occur in conjunction with problems in vestibular bilateral integration, sensor-bodypraxia, or visuodyspraxia. Signs of over-responsiveness, under-responsive, and fluctuating responses may be seen together; poor sensory perception can be confused with sensory hypersensitivity.
