How Asia Can Shape the World J. Ørstrøm Møller, 2011 Asia will redraw the map of economic progress over the next twenty five years Growth is necessary to solve economic and social problems but harder to achieve as the age of plenty gives way to the age of scarcities The challenge opens the doors for an Asian economic model based on shifting of productivity for the individual to groups ecological productivity instead of economic productivity and a reversal to traditional Asian values less materialistic than Western values A new paradigm for economic thinking emerges to replace the one launched in the West 200 years ago

Asia Future Shock , Governance in Pacific Asia Peter Ferdinand, 2012-02-02 This book examines the political economy of the states of Pacific Asia stretching from Japan to Burma since the end of WWII Governance in Pacific Asia offers a comprehensive account of the diverse experiences of the states in Pacific Asia Organized thematically around government and business relations in the main sectors of the economy chapters cover the historical social and cultural contexts for such policies as well as the social and political consequences of rapid economic development They also discuss the increasing economic integration of the region as well as its impact on global affairs and the reverse effect of globalization upon particular political systems Each chapter contains case studies and examples from anywhere in the region with some countries appearing more regularly such as China Japan newly industrialized economies Thailand the Philippines Malaysia Indonesia and Vietnam Governance in Pacific Asia provides an in depth comparative survey of a key region in world politics and political economy An essential text that includes sources from the region in at least three languages Chinese Japanese and Indonesian Malay it will be of interest to students and faculty in international relations developmental politics Asian politics and political economy

Regional Economic Outlook, April 2012, Asia and Pacific International Monetary Fund. Asia and Pacific Dept, 2012-04-13 Barring the realization of downside risks to the global economy growth in the Asia and the Pacific region is expected to gain momentum over the course of 2012 according to this report and now projected at 6 percent in 2012 rising to about 6.2 percent in 2013 Stronger economic and policy fundamentals have helped buffer the region's economies against the global financial crisis by limiting adverse financial market spillovers and ameliorating the impact of deleveraging by European banks but a sharp fall in exports to advanced economies and a reversal of foreign capital flows would have a severe impact on the region The region's policymakers now face the difficult task of calibrating the amount of insurance needed to support stable noninflationary growth Some Asian and Pacific economies can afford to lengthen the pause in the normalization of their macroeconomic policies that was initiated when the global recovery stalled late in 2011 others may need a faster return to more neutral policy stances Similarly the pace of fiscal consolidation should be calibrated to country specific circumstances Additional chapters in the report discuss whether China is rebalancing and the particular challenges facing Asian low income and small island economies
