Assessment Of The Niosh Head And Face Anthropometric Survey Of Us Respirator Users:

Assessment of the NIOSH Head-and-Face Anthropometric Survey of U.S. Respirator Users Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Committee for the Assessment of the NIOSH Head-and-Face Anthropometric Survey of U.S. Respirator Users, 2007-04-30 NIOSH and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration OSHA share responsibility for overseeing respiratory protection in the workplace and have established regulations for this purpose. Specifically NIOSH has issued regulations which define respirator testing and certification OSHA has issued regulations which define conditions under which employers are required to maintain respiratory protection programs in general industry, shipyards, marine terminals and construction. In 2005 NIOSH contracted with the Institute of Medicine IOM to study the NIOSH sponsored Anthrotech study along with its supporting information and reports and to examine and report on the adequacy and relevance of the study protocol, the analyses conducted, the resulting anthropometric dataset and the appropriateness of the respirator fit test panels derived from the new dataset. Assessment of the NIOSH Head and Face Anthropometric Survey of U S Respirator Users focuses on the establishment of the scientific base required for certification standards of respirators, not their use in the workplace. This report describes and analyzes the anthropometric measurements performed by Anthrotech for its NIOSH sponsored study. This report looks at the survey methods used by Anthrotech in the study and examines how Anthrotech analyzed its data to derive fit test panels and suggests some ways that analysis could be improved. This report discusses future directions pointing toward further analyses of the data and offers suggestions for moving from research to practice. Digital Human Modeling Vincent G. Personal protective technologies (PPT) include respirators worn by construction workers and miners, protective clothing, respirators and gloves worn by firefighters and mine rescue workers, and respirators and protective clothing worn by healthcare workers. An estimated 5 million workers are required to wear respirators in 1.3 million U.S. workplaces. For some occupations such as firefighting, the worker's protective equipment is the only form of protection against life-threatening hazards; for other workers, the PPT is a supplement to ventilation and other environmental engineering or administrative hazard controls. In the United States, federal responsibility for civilian worker PPT is integral to the mission of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health NIOSH This book examines the NIOSH Personal Protective Technology Program PPT Program and specifically focuses on the relevance and impact of this program in reducing hazardous exposures and improving worker health and safety Informing the Future Institute of Medicine, 2010-03-19 Today perhaps more than ever health care is a key item on the nation's agenda Government policy makers health professionals scientists industrial and civic leaders patient advocates and private citizens across the social spectrum are focusing on how best to obtain a high quality health system that is efficient and affordable in its operation and that functions well for everyone The Institute of Medicine IOM regularly considers this challenge from a variety of perspectives Recent efforts have focused on improving the organization and operation of the nation's largest health agency working to assess what diagnostic therapeutic and preventive services work best gauging the overall health of the nation's population and identifying ways to build an even stronger foundation of evidence based medicine that effectively captures the promise of scientific discovery and technological innovation and enables doctors nurses and other health professionals to provide the right care for the right patient at the right time The body of this book illustrates the work of IOM committees in selected major areas in recent years followed by a description of IOM's convening and collaborative activities and fellowship programs The last section provides a comprehensive bibliography of IOM reports published since 2007 Designing Advanced Respiratory Protective Devices for Pandemics Guowen Song, Rui Li, 2024-12-01 Designing Advanced Respiratory Protective Devices for Pandemics Performance Mechanism and Future Perspectives identifies emerging and critical issues that directly or indirectly influence the protective performance of Respiratory Protective Devices RPDs along with important future research directions The severity of the COVID 19 pandemic emphasizes the vital role of respiratory protection provided by PPE and RPD in novel infectious respiratory disease control A wealth of recent research on coronavirus mitigation measures is combined with prior information on infectious diseases RPDs and human physiological and psychological responses to make this a fundamental resource on recent advances innovative perspectives on respiratory protection and new applications The effectiveness of such disease control measures rely greatly on the performance of the RPD user compliance and proper use Only an interdisciplinary approach to this issue can lead to success Combines introductory material on the nature of infectious disease and mechanisms of respiratory protection with cutting edge research Examines the different material properties that lead to successful RPDs including breathability comfort and recyclability Explains different methods for RPD test evaluation and approval from regulatory agencies worldwide Digital Human Modeling and Applications in Health, Safety, Ergonomics and Risk Management Vincent G. Preparing for an Influenza Pandemic Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Committee on Personal Protective Equipment for Healthcare Workers During an Influenza Pandemic, 2007-11-28 During an influenza pandemic healthcare workers will be on the front lines delivering care to patients and preventing further spread of the disease As the nation prepares for pandemic influenza multiple avenues for protecting the health of the public are being carefully considered ranging from rapid development of appropriate vaccines to quarantine plans should the need arise for their implementation One vital aspect of pandemic influenza planning is the use of personal protective equipment PPE the respirators gowns gloves face shields eye protection and other equipment that will be used by healthcare workers and others in their day to day patient care responsibilities However efforts to appropriately protect healthcare workers from illness or from infecting their families and their patients are greatly hindered by the paucity of data on the transmission of influenza and the challenges associated with training and equipping healthcare workers with effective personal protective equipment Due to this lack of knowledge on influenza transmission it is not possible at the present time to definitively inform healthcare workers about what PPE is critical and what level of protection this equipment will provide in a pandemic The outbreaks of severe acute respiratory syndrome SARS in 2003 have underscored the importance of protecting healthcare workers from infectious agents The surge capacity that will be required to reduce mortality from a pandemic cannot be met if healthcare workers are themselves ill or are absent due to concerns about PPE efficacy The IOM committee determined that there is an urgent need to address the lack of preparedness regarding effective PPE for use in an influenza pandemic

Workers identifies that require expeditious research and policy action 1 Influenza transmission research should become an immediate and short term research priority so that effective prevention and control strategies can be developed and refined The current paucity of knowledge significantly hinders prevention efforts 2 Employer and employee commitment to worker safety and appropriate use of PPE should be strengthened Healthcare facilities should establish and promote a culture of safety 3 An integrated effort is needed to understand the PPE requirements of the worker and to develop and utilize innovative materials and technologies to create the next generation of PPE capable of meeting these needs
