Jones,2012-12-06 The backbone of in patient care is the hospital ward and I believe that this will remain so in the future Shortcomings in the staffing organization and layout of the conventional ward have been recog nized for a long time but there have been few changes and not all these have benefited the patient The evolution of specialized treat ment centres for poliomyelitis thoracic surgery burns and so on showed the need for a new staffing structure a re organization of patient care and of secondary importance new forms of accom modation These regional or referral centres serve large populations or areas and are collectively known as specialized intensive care or therapy units The idea of using similar principles of staffing organ ization and facilities to serve each large district hospital came much later 1959 and was first applied in the United States Thus the general intensive care unit was born a unit which would treat critically ill patients irrespective of the nature of their disease in sharp contrast to the specialized intensive care unit The staffing structure and technologies of the two are however similar Special ized intensive care consists of a single speciality or two specialities for example thoracic surgery and thoracic anaesthesia General intensive care cannot be a speciality because it embraces the whole of acute medicine acute surgery accident surgery toxicology and many more individual specialities This very diversity makes it difficult to organize but interesting to perform Recent Advances in Aquaculture J.F. Muir,R.J. Roberts,2012-12-06 The success of the previous volumes in this series attests to the buoyancy of the current expansion of the aquaculture industry and the importance which it is beginning to achieve in the rural economies of many developed countries as well as those less favoured In the last volume emphasis was given to certain specialist areas which had become more important as the industry had acquired a more sophisti cated scientific base This emphasis is continued but in each of the chapters of the present volume there are we believe many data of general significance to the farmer and the project manager as well as to the pro fessional aquaculture scientist David Alderman of the English Ministry of Agriculture Fisheries and Food Laboratories at Weymouth Dorset provides a very detailed and deeply researched review of therapy of fish diseases This subject is import ant in environmental and human health terms as well as in relation to the fish themselves and is an area where all farmers and their professional veterinary advisers require considerable knowledge if they are to ensure the reputation of the industry and its produce
