The Method and Culture of Comparative Law Maurice Adams, Dirk Heirbaut, 2014-12-01 Awareness of the need to deepen the method and methodology of legal research is only recent The same is true for comparative law by nature a more adventurous branch of legal research which is often something researchers simply do whenever they look at foreign legal systems to answer one or more of a range of questions about law whether these questions are doctrinal economic sociological etc Given the diversity of comparative research projects the precise contours of the methods employed or the epistemological issues raised by them are to a great extent a function of the nature of the research questions asked As a result the search for a unique one size fits all comparative law methodology is unlikely to be fruitful That however does not make reflection on the method and culture of comparative law meaningless Mark Van Hoecke has throughout his career been interested in many topics but legal theory comparative law and methodology of law stand out Building upon his work this book brings together a group of leading authors working at the crossroads of these themes the method and culture of comparative law With contributions by Maurice Adams John Bell Joxerramon Bengoetxea Roger Brownsword Se n Patrick Donlan Rob van Gestel and Hans Micklitz Patrick Glenn Jaap Hage Dirk Heirbaut Jaakko Husa Souichirou Kozuka and Luke Nottage Martin L hnig Susan Millns Toon Moonen Francois Ost Heikki Pihlajam ki Geoffrey Samuel Mathias Siems J rn yrehagen Sunde Catherine Valcke and Matthew Grellette Alain Wijffels

Black Wave Daniel P. Aldrich, 2019-07-11 Despite the devastation caused by the magnitude 9.0 earthquake and 60 foot tsunami that struck Japan in 2011 some 96% of those living and working in the most disaster stricken region of Tohoku made it through. Smaller earthquakes and tsunamis have killed far more people in nearby China and India. What accounts for the exceptionally high survival rate? And why is it that some towns and cities in the Tohoku region have built back more quickly than others? Black Wave illuminates two critical factors that had a direct influence on why survival rates varied so much across the Tohoku region following the 3.11 disasters and why the rebuilding process has also not moved in lockstep across the region. Individuals and communities with stronger networks and better governance, Daniel P. Aldrich shows, had higher survival rates and accelerated recoveries. Less connected communities with fewer such ties faced harder recovery processes and lower survival rates. Beyond the individual and neighborhood levels of survival and recovery, the rebuilding process has varied greatly as some towns and cities have sought to work independently on rebuilding plans ignoring recommendations from the national government and moving quickly to institute their own visions while others have followed the guidelines offered by Tokyo based bureaucrats for economic development and rebuilding.
