

Introduction to BUSINESS

Expand your reach to the right people and market to increase business.

THE BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

Business is defined as any organization or enterprise engaging in industrial, commercial, or professional activities. A business can be:

- A variety of models, including for-profit, nonprofit, and governmental or public administration.
- Any provider of:
 - Making, buying, selling, or providing services in exchange for money (for-profit).
 - Supporting, developing, or implementing activities to support societal and charitable needs (nonprofit).
 - Creating or providing activities to support government needs or activities for society or community needs (public administration).

Business Factors

- Supply & Demand: demand of a commodity, product, or service desired by the consumer (see demand); and the tangible product, commodity, or service produced and quantity to meet that demand (supply).
- Commodity: a basic resource that is used to produce goods and services for commercial or nonprofit use.
- Competition: types of business challenges taking place in complex markets.
 - Trademark: used in developing or third world countries where goods and services are provided governmentally.
 - Commodity: government issues the business and controls the economy, making the decisions on business challenges and opportunities.

Market: the companies, customers and businesses who first to make their own decisions of what to buy and sell, and how to conduct their business.

- Competition: comparison of an industry offering similar products or services to customers in a free enterprise market economy.
 - Monopolistic competition: many sellers in competition offering similar products or services, but each seller has unique differentiators on features or benefits.
 - Oligopoly: fewer sellers in competition with few obvious differentiators.
 - Monopoly: only one seller in a market offering a single unique solution. Legal if patent, illegal if does not allow for free competition or competition.
- Factors in the macroenvironment: influences such as politics, law, societal issues, and other important issues that determine business objectives and outcomes.

U.S. Covid-19 changed many business operations, opportunities, and objectives due to varying changes in market and consumer trends or behaviors.

- Factors in the microenvironment: operating channels of communication from employees directly to leadership could improve cultural intelligence.
- Influences the decisions of individuals on the basis of business production, exchange, or consumption.
- Technology: continually advancing to influence business planning and operations and keep pace with developing new consumers or market needs.
