Atlantic cod industry took center stage but partly thanks to climate change and overfishing it is more and more likely that the cod on your kitchen table or in your fast food fish fillets came from Alaska's Pacific Cod Fishery. Alaska Codfish Chronicle is the first comprehensive history of this fishery. It looks at the early decades of the fishery's history, a period marked by hardship and danger as well as the dominance of foreign fishermen. And the modern era beginning in 1976 when the United States claimed an exclusive economic zone around the Alaska coasts, Americanizing the fishery and replacing the foreign fleets that had been ravaging the resources in the Gulf of Alaska and the Bering Sea. Today the Pacific cod fishery is in terms of poundage the second largest fishery in Alaska and considered among the best managed fisheries in the world. This history is extremely well documented, does not spare details, and is accessible to general readers. It incorporates nearly a hundred photographs and illustrations and is sprinkled with numerous observations from fishing industry journals and reports, even incorporating poems and recipes, making this an especially thorough and unique account of one of Alaska's most iconic and important industries.

All the Boats on the Ocean Carmel Finley, 2017-02-15. This historical account of overfishing sees the future of fisheries hinging on holistic approaches involving fish, fisher, and environment. Nature. Most current fishing practices are neither economically nor biologically sustainable. Every year the world spends 80 billion buying fish that cost 105 billion to catch, even as heavy fishing places growing pressure on stocks that are already struggling with warmer, more acidic oceans. How have we developed an industry that is so wasteful? Carmel Finley explores how government subsidies propelled the expansion of fishing from a coastal, in-shore activity into a global industry. Looking across politics, economics, and biology, All the Boats on the Ocean casts a wide net to reveal how the subsidy-driven expansion of fisheries in the Pacific during the Cold War led to the growth of fisheries science and the creation of international fisheries management In a world where this technologically advanced industry has enabled nations to colonize the oceans fish literally have no place left to hide and the future of the seas and their fish stocks is uncertain Finley is an engaging writer weaving together historical economic and societal threads in a narrative that anchors global developments in the accounts of local actors Science The most comprehensive and empirically grounded account yet of how the modern transnational fishery regime emerged Oregon Historical Quarterly Finley links the fisheries story to the great transformation of global ecology in the postwar period by way of the technology policy and politics of food production a significant original book Arthur McEvoy Southwestern Law School author of The Fisherman's Problem Ecology and Law in the California Fisheries 1850-1980 The Tragedy of the Commodity Stefano B. Longo, Rebecca Clausen, Brett Clark, 2015-06-25 Winner of the 2017 Paul Sweezy Marxist Sociology Book Award from the American Sociological Association Although humans have long depended on oceans and aquatic ecosystems for sustenance and trade only recently has human influence on these resources dramatically increased transforming and undermining oceanic environments throughout the world Marine ecosystems are in a crisis that is global in scope rapid in pace and colossal in scale In The Tragedy of the Commodity sociologists Stefano B Longo Rebecca Clausen and Brett Clark explore the role human influence plays in this crisis highlighting the social and economic forces that are at the heart of this looming ecological problem In a critique of the classic theory the tragedy of the commons by ecologist Garrett Hardin the authors move beyond simplistic explanations such as unrestrained self interest or population growth to argue that it is the commodification of aquatic resources that leads to the depletion of fisheries and the development of environmentally suspect means of aquaculture To illustrate this argument the book features two fascinating case studies the thousand year history of the bluefin tuna fishery in the Mediterranean and the massive Pacific salmon fishery Longo Clausen and Clark describe how new fishing technologies transformations in ships and storage capacities and the expansion of seafood markets combined to alter radically and permanently these crucial ecosystems In doing so the authors underscore how the particular organization of social production contributes to ecological degradation and an increase in the pressures placed upon the ocean The authors highlight the historical political economic and cultural forces that shape how we interact with the larger biophysical world A path breaking analysis of overfishing The Tragedy of the Commodity yields insight into issues such as deforestation biodiversity loss pollution and climate change Fisheries, Quota Management and Quota Transfer Gordon M. Winder, 2017-07-11 This volume examines the impact of fish stock assessment and catch share arrangements in context through case studies and in terms of ecosystem economy and society It examines the rationalizing work of bio economic projects especially the institutionalization of individual transferable quota ITQ in fisheries what impact have they had on fisheries and fishers The contributing authors understand ITQ and quota management as bio economic projects that is as widely deployed but locally constituted projects that combine biological and economic logics to rationalize production and in this case fish Politicians and managers use these projects and the models that justify them to rationalize fisheries in favor of modern technology and for capital and species efficiency Aimed at a diverse interdisciplinary fisheries management readership and designed as a guide to issues emerging in any assessment of ITQ the book is a timely investigation of the origins and diverse experiences of ITQ projects including resistance to them attempts to develop fisheries management around them and experiences of the risks that come with them Now around forty years old ITQ has never been subject to the kind of comprehensive sustainability assessments once advocated by Elinor Ostrom let alone the full cost accounting of impacts at the national level that Evelyn Pinkerton recently called for Fisheries Quota Management and Quota Transfer offers multi disciplinary assessments of the effects of ITQ from scholars working in eight countries The book brings together scholars from anthropology economics geography sociology the history of science and marine environmental history to discuss experiences from fisheries in eight industrialized countries It considers cases from outside as well as inside the EU including ITQ pioneers New Zealand and Iceland The combination allows for an unprecedented international perspective on stock assessments and share allocation systems By emphasizing emerging becoming learning and transforming through knowledge the book conceives technology as a field of power and choice nevertheless dominated by managers through specific projects in specific contexts Individual chapters relate bio economic projects to separate theoretical literature an approach that facilitates multi disciplinary dialog
